

GIGANTIC JAPANESE INVASION FLEET SMASHED OFF AUSTRALIA

Chinese Destroy Japanese Force On Burma Road

Kill 1,500 Invaders and Trap Remainder of Unit

Japanese Spearhead in China Believed To Have Been Smashed

CHUNGKING, CHINA, May 8 (AP)—Falling with savage fury upon two Japanese columns thrusting into China along the Burma Road, counter-attacking Chinese wiped out one invading force of 1,000 men, killed 500 out of another of equal strength and trapped the remainder, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's high command announced tonight.

An official announcement said this triumph converted into disaster a Japanese attempt to flank Chinese troops of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell in the sector near Chengyang, twenty-five miles inside the Yunnan province from Burma.

The Flying Tigers of the American volunteer group protected Chinese bombers which battered Japanese troops and trucks in western Yunnan yesterday, an AVG communique said.

Japs Increase Bombing
The Japanese aerial offensive in eastern China, aimed at destroying possible bases for bombing Japan proper, was stepped up today with bombings in Kiangsi and the east coast provinces of Chekiang and Fukien. Some forty-three enemy planes in eight flights attacked various Kiangsi province towns, particularly the temporary capital of Kian. Other Japanese planes reconnoitered Hunan province extensively.

The bloody fighting was said to have occurred yesterday afternoon when truckloads of Japanese reinforcements, moving up from the border town of Wanting, split into two forces and attack both Chinese flanks.

Some enemy units penetrated behind the Chinese line, the communique indicated, but in the end, the battlefields were strewn with 1,500 Japanese dead with between 400 and 500, all that were left, pocketed.

Break Jap Spearhead
From the Chinese account, it appeared that the defenders might have destroyed Japanese spearheads which Tokyo claimed had driven past Chefang to Lungling, twenty-five miles deeper into China. The Chinese acknowledged yesterday the loss of Chefang itself.

(The Japanese announced officially their forces occupied Bhamo, head of the Irrawaddy navigation in Burma, last Sunday. With the fall of this town and Japanese occupation of Lashio earlier, Dornel declared the Chungking government had been cut off completely from outside aid.)

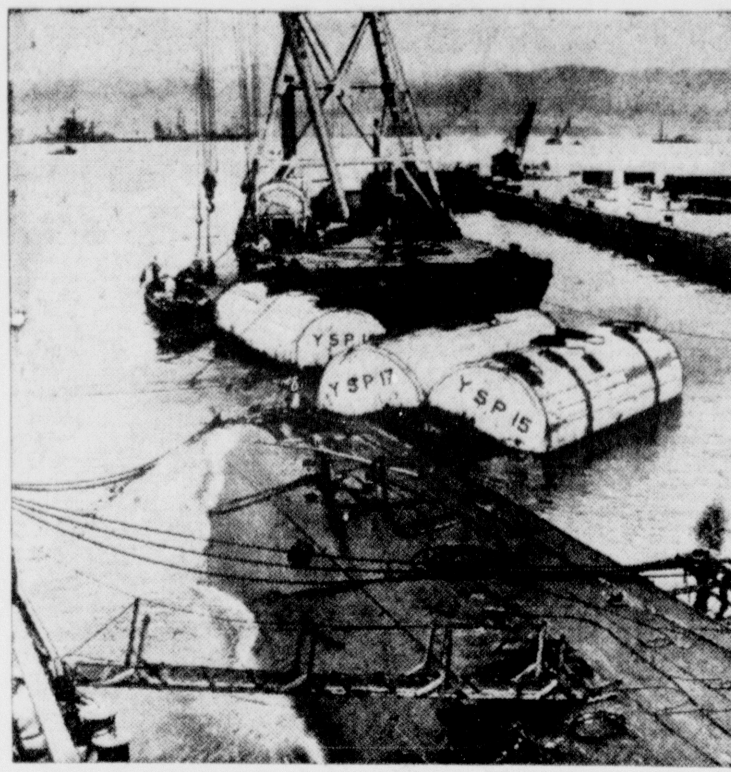

In Hupeh province the Chinese announced that 10,000 Japanese troops with more than 30 pieces of artillery started a drive in the Mienyang sector, sixty-five miles southwest of Hankow, last Tuesday but were intercepted by Chinese forces and heavy fighting ensued.

Another Japanese thrust southward in the Shantung and Shaohing areas of Chekiang province was reported beaten back with heavy enemy casualties while additional casualties were reported inflicted upon the invader in a battle on April 29 at Tacerapan, Suivan province.

Baltimore Flier Killed

Wallace Warns Japanese May Attack Alaska

Vice President Predicts Hitler Will Strike Hard in Summer

Also Predicts Germans Will Start Uprising in South America

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—Vice President Wallace, predicting the Axis would strike a "last desperate blow" this summer, said tonight that this might include a Japanese attack on Alaska and the northwestern United States coast with a simultaneous German uprising in Latin America.

The vice president said in an address prepared for a dinner of the free world association here that this country must look for "the worst kind of fifth column work in Latin America, much of it operating through the agency of governments with which the United States at present is at peace."

"When I say this," he added, "I recognize that the peoples both of Latin America and of the nations supporting the agencies through which the fifth columnists work are overwhelmingly on the side of the democracies."

He did not name the nations to which he referred.

Sees Hitler Desperate
Hitler knows, Wallace went on, that the United States is winning the battle of production and the German leader, "like the prize fighter who realizes he is on the verge of being knocked out, is gathering all of his remaining forces for one last desperate blow."

Then, predicting this blow would come in the critical summer months, he declared:

"We may be sure that Hitler and Japan will cooperate to do the unexpected — perhaps an attack by Japan against Alaska and our northwest coast at a time when German transport planes will be shuttled across from Dakar to furnish leadership and stiffening to a German uprising in Latin America."

Wallace apparently referred to reports that the Vichy government might openly permit use of French African territory by Axis forces. At one point in his remarks, the vice president classified Pierre Laval, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Russians Wreck Nazi Offensive On Arctic Front

Germans Driven from Soviet Soil with Heavy Losses

Nazi Bombing Fleets Forced To Withdraw To Remote Stations

MOSCOW, May 8 (AP)—The Red army and air force were reported in official dispatches tonight to have wrecked a three-way German spring offensive aimed from Finland into Soviet Karelia and to have driven large numbers of Nazi bombing planes from forward bases near Russia's vital water and rail communications in the Arctic.

German troops charged with stabbing across the Karelian frontier at three points were driven from Russian soil with heavy losses, said frontier dispatches to the Communist newspaper Pravda.

German Bombers Checked
From the Arctic front, the army newspaper Red Star reported that German bombing fleets, after a futile six weeks' offensive against the northern sea lanes and Russian rail lines over which increasing American and British supplies are (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Farmers, Cannermen Predict Serious Loss of Crops

Farm Labor Shortage Rapidly Becoming Major Problem

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Farmers and cannermen throughout the state expect a serious loss of valuable lend-lease crops because of probable farm labor shortage during Maryland's month-away harvesting season.

The head buyer for a local cannery reported today after talking with many state growers that major crops—peas, stringbeans, cantaloupes, tomatoes and cucumbers—would be greatly reduced if the usual source of labor, southern migratory workers, continued to be depleted.

He said the draft, shortage of tires and gasoline and higher wages in war industries had caused the usual number of migratory workers to fall far below normal.

First Crop Due Soon
Maryland's first major crop—peas—is due about June 10, but since harvesting of this product is done mainly by machines there is little worry of loss.

Stringbeans and cucumbers come out on the market about June 25. Cantaloupes ripen on Eastern (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Six-Day Battle Ends with 18 Enemy Warships Reported Sunk, 4 Damaged In Greatest Sea Action of the War

American Losses Not Reported to Navy Department

Not Believed Heavy in Spite of Severity of Engagement

Washington Warns against Believing Reports from Tokyo

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The Navy announced tonight that a great naval battle in the Coral Sea between American and Japanese forces was continuing and that the enemy's total losses since Monday had been eleven ships sunk and six damaged.

Details of American losses "are not fully known at present," a communique said, adding that "no credence should be given to claims that have been or may be put out by Tokyo."

The communique, based on reports received up to 6 p. m. eastern war time, today:

Naval Announcements
A naval engagement between our forces and those of the Japanese has been in continuous progress in the general area southward of Bismarck archipelago in the Coral Sea since Monday, and there is no indication yet of a cessation.

"Japanese losses are believed to be:
"Sunk—One aircraft carrier, one heavy cruiser, one light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats, two transports or cargo vessels.

"Damaged—One aircraft carrier, one heavy cruiser, one light cruiser, one seaplane tender, two transports or cargo vessels.

Details of losses and damage to our forces are not fully known at present but no credence should be given to claims that have been or may be put out by Tokyo.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

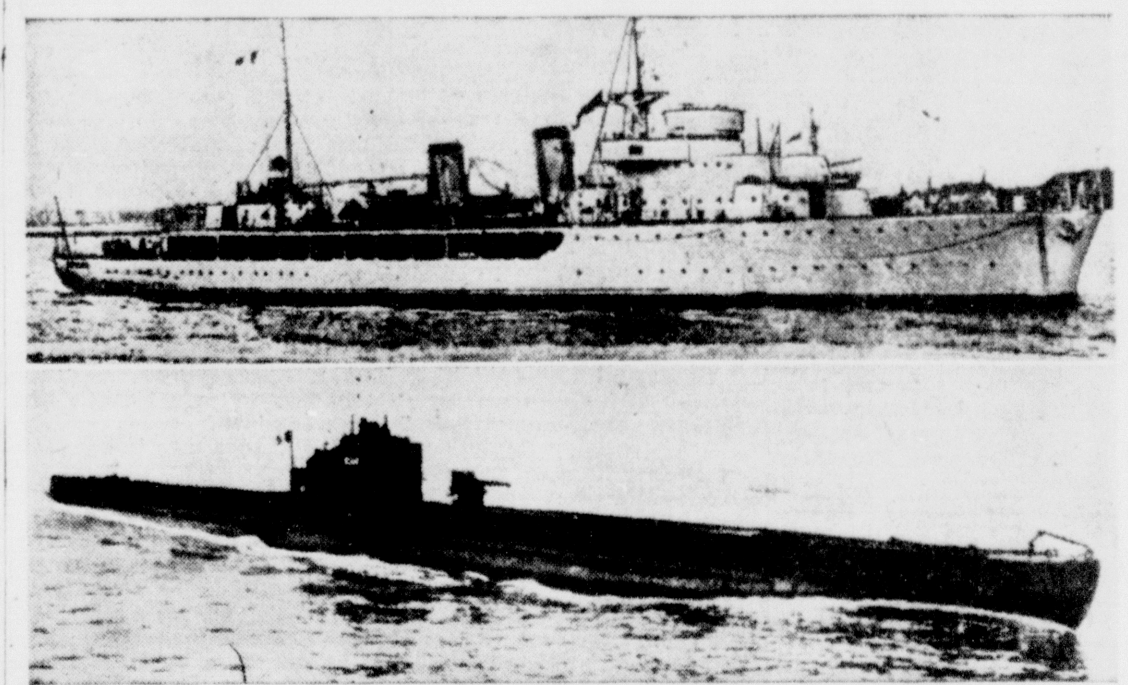

Naval authorities commenting on the communique said it was a "logical inference that we have had some losses" in view of the tremendous blows dealt the enemy. But what they were could not be stated at this time.

The sunk and damaged figures contained in the navy's communique No. 78, issued today, overlapped in several instances figures given out yesterday on the preliminary phases of the battle since today's report constituted accumulated totals.

The sinkings announced yesterday were one light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats, and the vessels reported yesterday to have been damaged were one light cruiser, one seaplane tender, one transport and one cargo vessel.

It also appeared that the navy's report issued here paralleled in all categories except one a report issued several hours earlier by allied headquarters in Australia. Allied headquarters had announced only one supply vessel sunk while the navy announced two transports or cargo vessels.

FRENCH WARSHIPS REPORTED SUNK AT MADAGASCAR

According to London reports, the French auxiliary cruiser Bougainville (top) and the submarine Beveviers (bottom) were sunk while attempting to deliver torpedo attacks against troop-laden British transports during the brief campaign against Madagascar. After 48 hours of fighting the British said that all French resistance at Diego Suarez, chief naval base at Madagascar, has ended and terms of surrender are now being drawn up.

British Rushing Reinforcements To Ceylon Area

Seek To Clean Up Remaining French Resistance on Madagascar

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—The British quickly sent reinforcements to Ceylon and strove to clean up any remaining Vichy-French resistance on Madagascar today as the urgency of controlling the Indian ocean was stressed by reports that Japanese invasion forces already were aboard ship in Rangoon, ready to attack India.

Burma, scene of one of the most stubborn delaying actions of the war, was almost completely overrun by the Japanese for strategic considerations.

Japs May Be in India
Military sources acknowledged that the Japanese probably had taken the West Burma port of Akyab, 300 miles from Calcutta, but said they had no confirmation of a German broadcast assertion that the Japanese already had crossed the border into India. It was conceded that Japanese patrols may have entered India "purely for propaganda purposes," but the informants held to the belief that any Japanese invasion of the tempting treasure-house of India would come from the sea, with Akyab and its airfields as the base of heavy preparatory air attacks on the Ganges basin.

Aligned with this view was the announcement that Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's United States army bombers from India raided Rangoon again today for their third attack in four days. The bombers defied storm and waves of Japanese fighters in setting big fires.

Three Officers Killed In Crash of Army Plane

TACOMA, May 8 (AP)—An army bomber from nearby McCord field air base fell into Puget Sound late today and sank with its crew of two captains and a lieutenant-colonel, the Army Air Corps reported.

The following officers were aboard the plane, the air corps said:
Lieut. Col. Perry O. Huff, 41, Silver Spring, Md., next of kin, Mrs. Phyllis W. Huff, wife, same address.
Capt. R. C. Alexander, 45, Seattle.
Capt. Angus C. B. MacPhee, 26, Tacoma.

The plane fell about a half mile from the mainland and near Ketron island in Puget Sound, about twenty miles south of Tacoma.

Witnesses said the bomber fell from considerable altitude and disappeared almost immediately. The water is deep near Ketron island.

It was the second bomber tragedy in the immediate vicinity and the fourth in the Pacific northwest within a week.

Wickard Supports Plan To Produce Tires from Crops

Says Large Quantities of Wheat and Corn Will Be Available

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Secretary Wickard today threw his influence behind demands from farm-minded lawmakers that large quantities of surplus wheat, corn, and other agricultural commodities be converted into synthetic rubber.

The agriculture secretary told a Senate Agriculture subcommittee that "use of parts of our reserve stocks of corn and wheat x x x offers the best possibility of greatly increasing our production of synthetic rubber as early as next year."

Loafing Negroes Forced To Work

Total of 105 Agree To Take Jobs, Stop Drawing Compensation

CENTREVILLE, Md., May 8 (AP)—Called before a magistrate to explain why they continued drawing unemployment compensation checks while refusing jobs reported available, more than 100 negro men and women today accepted work in their fields to help harvest strawberries and truck crops on the Eastern Shore.

In all, 105 negroes agreed to take jobs. Of this number, 101 had been picked up on Centreville streets for investigation in a two-day drive directed by State's Attorney John P. Smith.

Most of those picked up, Smith said, were oyster shuckers whose employment in that industry ceased in mid-April, and who since that time had been drawing unemployment compensation.

Needed for Harvesting
Smith said three men—William Langford, Fred Dorman and Ivory Henry—had reported to him they had been unable to obtain a quota of workers to harvest fast-ripening crops threatening to go to waste in fields. Smith said the majority of the oyster shuckers had continued living at Kent Island Narrows.

Remnants of Big Fleet on the Run, Reuters Declares

Two Japanese Aircraft Carriers Known To Have Been Destroyed

Cruiser and Six or Seven Destroyers Sent to the Bottom

LONDON, Saturday, May 9. (AP)—Reuters in a dispatch from Sydney today said a vast Japanese invasion fleet off northern Australia has been smashed.

Remnants of the Japanese invasion fleet are on the run, the dispatch said.

Reuters said its dispatch was based on reports from an advanced Allied base.

The toll of Japanese sea losses, the Reuters dispatch said, rose to eighteen ships sunk and four damaged, including the certain destruction of two aircraft carriers, one cruiser, six or seven destroyers and other vessels.

MacArthur Headquarters Announces End of Battle

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Saturday, May 9 (AP)—The Japanese battle fleet has been repulsed in the Coral sea and the greatest air and sea battle in which the American fleet has ever engaged has temporarily ceased, a communique issued by General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Cessation of the terrific battle came on the sixth day after Allied war and naval forces had gone out to meet the threat to the Australian mainland.

The headquarters communique said the action represented a "continued effort of the Japanese to extend their aggressive conquests toward the south and southwest."

Japs Planned Major Attack
It was pointed out that the Japanese had been building up their forces, with emphasis on naval transport elements, for a coordinated attack of the combined forces. This attack, the communique said, was "initiated several days ago."

The text of the communique: "The great naval and air battle off the northeast coast of Australia has temporarily ceased. This action represents the continued effort of the Japanese to extend their aggressive conquests toward the south and southwest. First efforts were aimed at expanding his air bases, but our air force has consistently and effectively attacked his fields during the past six weeks, dislocating his plans through the destruction of installations and aircraft."

Car Owners Who Drive To Work Will Have Gas

'Adequate Supply' Assured Workers Who Need Transportation

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The government rationing plan for gasoline on the eastern seaboard, limiting "non-essential" automobiles to about two gallons a week but assuring motorists who use their cars to get to work of an "adequate" supply, was disclosed today by Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

The order, affecting approximately 9,000,000 motorists and covering the seven-week period between May 15 and July 1, virtually spelled the end of pleasure driving in the area, and Henderson indicated that even more stringent regulations would go into effect upon its expiration.

Hits Tourist Business
The tremendous impact of the rationing on the tourist business in the area was indicated when Henderson's office warned that vacationing motorists would be subject to the same restrictions as resident drivers. If they come purely for pleasure, they'll get only the ration allotted to non-essential cars. Motorists coming into the area on business will be entitled to additional supplies sufficient to accomplish their purpose.

Under the terms of the "meal ticket" rationing plan, essential vehicles—trucks, buses, taxis and tractors—would receive an unlimited supply. Between that group and the "non-essential" classification would fall the thousands who drive to work or use their cars for business purposes.

More Gas for Workers

To take care of that group, Henderson said that three additional "work" classifications would be set up on the basis of need. Depending upon the classification, the owner of a "work" car would be entitled to 22, 30 or 38 gallons for the period, or a little more than three, four or five gallons a week respectively.

"The big thing about the meal ticket basis as we approach a heavier cut is this — our emphasis is upon keeping industry going and seeing that people who use their automobiles for transportation to work get it," asserted the price administrator.

Henderson outlined the plan before the House Interstate committee, and bluntly asserted that as far as the driver of a non-essential car is concerned "he's getting a damn sight more than he's entitled to in view of the situation."

Can Drive 30 Miles a Week

"On the basis of fifteen miles a gallon, he can drive thirty miles a week."

(An Office of Price Administration spokesman later explained that a motorist may use all of his rationed allowance on the first day the order goes into effect, or save it for a longer trip later in the seven-week period.)

Before he began his testimony, Henderson told newsmen that he was "still working to see if he could increase the allotment for non-essential cars, but I see no prospect of getting it above three gallons a week."

He estimated that the "non-essential" definition would apply to approximately one third of the automobiles in the area. Similarly, he said vehicles entitled to an unlimited supply amounted to about a third, and added that they would get about sixty-six per cent of the available supply.

Plans "Honor System"

Operators entitled to an unlimited supply will be put on an honor basis, Henderson said. "I hope," he added, "that we will not have to ask rationing boards to take on the job of policing deliveries to unlimited users. But, if we find it necessary, we will ask local boards, committees of their neighbors, to take over supervision to see that there are no abuses."

There were strong indications that western Pennsylvania, western New York and at least part of West Virginia would be exempted from the rationing, because of more plentiful supplies there, Henderson spoke of the exemption as an accomplished fact. But other sources said the War Production Board would make its decision on the exemptions next Tuesday.

Henderson paid tribute to the "astounding job" done by Interior Secretary Ickes' Office of Petroleum Coordination in collecting gasoline and motor operation statistics, but said that even more information would be available after next week's registration of automobiles.

That registration, he said, would furnish the basis for determining the classification of an automobile. He told the committee that one of the prime beneficiaries of the rationing would be the farmer, who would be assured of an adequate supply for vehicles used to carry produce to market.

Widening his discussion to the entire field of price administration in response to committee queries, Henderson declared that "just as the military forces have to readjust themselves in the light of circumstance, so will the civilian population have to readjust itself."

and Africa, and infantry, tank forces and artillerymen will keep on fighting on the present fronts.

"We realize that it is all one war regardless of where the fighting is taking place," said defense minister P. Jones. "If, prior to America's entrance into the war, Britain had gone down we would have gone down too. Now if America goes down we will go. We are ready to do our part, wherever it may be."

New Zealand had already dug deep into its slender supplies of manpower before Japan entered the war. The dominion voluntarily sent its youngest, finest and fittest men to fight Hitler on distant battlefronts.

Now every available man is being trained for active battle duty in defense of the islands. Every tenth New Zealander is now in uniform at home or abroad, Lieut. Gen. E. Puttick, the army commander, said today.

"This action has been taken solely because of the war emergency, and this country's great need of ships in order successfully to prosecute the war."

The navy department operated the yard, with several hundred million dollars of war orders, for nine weeks last summer and fall, after a strike in which the principal demand of the union was inclusion of a maintenance of membership clause in its contract with the company.

When the yard was returned to private operation on January 6, this year, the issue still was unsettled.

who was not named, said he plunged two torpedoes into the tanker setting it ablaze. The submarine, lightened by the discharge of the heavy torpedoes, popped to the surface in the midst of the tanker's convoy. A few yards away was a German destroyer, a little farther a German trawler and above was a bomber "flying in wide circles like an angry seagull."

"I don't know which one of us was more surprised," the captain said. "Their ships did not have time to open fire. The bomber was faster and riddled us with bullets from its machineguns."

The submarine dived to the bottom "like a stone." Depth charges and bombs "rained on us" and in the first forty minutes there was an explosion every two minutes, the captain related. "The Minerve was shaken and shivered like jelly."

Air reserves grew low and the atmosphere in the waiting submarine grew heavy and tense. The men perspired, breathed slowly and tried not to talk to conserve oxygen. When someone's shoes sounded on the iron floor there were angry protests.

After thirteen hours the sub rose and although damaged was able to make port under its own power.

British Rushing

Informants said the Japanese had been concentrating much more than a holding force at Rangoon and this was the reason the United States bombers had raided the port so often.

Ceylon Reinforced
While the British land forces in Burma continued to move up the Chindwin river valley to the northwest, it was announced here that the British island of Ceylon, off India's southeast tip, had been newly reinforced with troops from northern Rhodesia, Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika, Nyasaland and Zanzibar. They represent all arms of the service and are veterans of the conquest of Ethiopia from the Italians.

On Madagascar, where the British took the naval base and port of Diego Suarez on Thursday, there was no definite word on the extent of any remaining French resistance. Reports from Vichy said fighting still was in progress in the mountains a little distance to the south.

The Vichy radio said the total defense force on the big island was 3,000 men and that only 1,200 had been engaged in the Diego Suarez fight.

British estimates of the French effective did not exceed 4,000, and it was reported here that more than half these forces were engaged at Diego Suarez.

collaborationist Vichy chieftain, as a par with Norway's Quisling, and Italy's Mussolini as allies of Hitler, adding:

Scores Laval

"Is there any hell hotter than that of being a Quisling, unless it is that of being a Laval or a Mussolini?"

Wallace warned that a "psychological and sabotage offensive" in the United States and Latin America was likely to be timed with an anticipated Axis military offensive.

Praising the "remarkable job" being done by business and labor in the war production effort, Wallace said, he was confident the American people would "joyously deny ourselves" so there might be a thirty per cent improvement in transportation.

He outlined four duties which he said must be carried out to win the four freedoms outlined by President Roosevelt.

He listed these as:
1. The duty to produce to the limit.
2. The duty to transport as rapidly as possible to the field of battle.
3. The duty to fight with all that is in us.
4. The duty to build a peace — just, charitable and enduring."

who began picking up negroes loafing on the streets.

"We wanted to make an investigation whether there was fraud or misrepresentation in their receiving unemployment compensation while refusing to accept jobs," the state's attorney said.

There was no trial, only a show-cause action when they were called before Magistrate Melvin H. Robinson. They were asked why they were unemployed and to prove why they were entitled to unemployment compensation when jobs were available.

Will Work in Fields

As a result, all of those taken into custody, plus four more, agreed to join groups working in fields, Langford getting forty, Dorman thirty-five and Henry thirty in their groups. The negroes left today for Bridgeville, Del., and Marion, Md. (Somerset county), where they will begin work Monday morning.

Smith said he learned some of the negroes left jobs at Tighman, Md., last week and had refused to go back to work, meanwhile receiving unemployment compensation.

"Disorderliness has increased in communities along with the number of loafers," Smith declared, asserting the "work or fight or jail" campaign in this county would be continued.

obviously pleased Chairman Gillette (D-Ia) and Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) Wheeler (D-Mont) and McNary (D-Ore) of the committee but Wheeler bluntly commented that the agriculture department and its scientists had been "asleep at the switch."

Asserting that a world rubber trust had been holding up prices for ten years, Wheeler told Wickard that if the agricultural department had "been on its toes" it would have perfected processes for converting farm products into alcohol, rubber and numerous other articles now needed for the war effort.

Has Limited Funds

In reply, Wickard observed that the department could spend for experimentation only such funds as Congress gave it for that purpose. Norris and Gillette asked Wickard what he was doing about production of rubber from grains.

The secretary said he had held numerous informal conferences with Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board and other officials who have been awarding government contracts and funds for building of synthetic rubber plants.

Washington Will Be Philippine Capital

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—This city has been chosen provisional capital of the Philippine commonwealth, it was disclosed today following the arrival in San Francisco of President Manuel L. Quezon.

A war refugee from his own Japanese-occupied capital city of Manila, Quezon was accompanied by his family and several cabinet members of the insular government, including Vice President Sergio Osmena.

The interior department announced that after a rest the Philippine leader would come to Washington and establish headquarters for the commonwealth government he has headed for more than six years.

Texas Daredevil Describes Sinking Of 10,000-Ton Japanese Oil Tanker

LOS ANGELES, May 8 (AP)—Ensign Anthony B. Akers, 27-year-old Texas-born daredevil hero of old-time warfare in the Philippines, says he is "just spoiling to get at those Japs again."

The six-foot-two Akers, who rescued President Manuel Quezon at Manila Bay and took him to Mindanao, is a member of Lieut. John Bukey's torpedo boat squadron and a veteran of the epic delivery of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from Corregidor to a flying fortress rendezvous on Mindanao.

Akers, a graduate of the University of Texas, makes his home here with Clarence D. Hudson. Modest to the point of bashfulness, he told how he sank a 10,000-ton Jap tanker in Subic Bay.

"I guess that was my best job," he told newsmen. "We had information that several enemy ships were proceeding into Subic Bay. With another boat, I took up my position off the mouth of the bay. Our reconnaissance was wrong. I learned after waiting three hours without seeing anything.

"I didn't want the night to be a total loss so I proceeded into the bay, with motors muffled. I saw two ships, one just being docked. Through my glasses I made out that she was a 10,000-ton tanker. We crept to within 1,000 yards of her, fired one torpedo, waited five minutes, fired again, and saw the tanker go up in flames. Then we headed back to sea, blasting at the shore batteries as we went.

Akers shot down a Jap dive bomber when Cavite was first bombed.

He is unmarried and says romance will have to wait "because I have some unfinished business to take care of."

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

The true significance of the American-Japanese sea battle that has raged since Monday off Australia cannot be calculated until the circumstances that brought it on are revealed.

There is no question, however, that it represents the onset of the battle of Australia and that Japan has suffered heavy, if not crippling, naval losses in its first phase. Pearl Harbor has been partially avenged.

Utterly conflicting American and Japanese accounts make it impossible at this writing to evaluate the scope of the action accurately. There is the same conflict as to which side was the interceptor and which the intercepted or as to just where the action has been taking place.

Japanese Claims Denied

Tokyo dubs it the "battle of the Coral Sea." From Tokyo, also, comes the only intimation that battleships have been engaged. The Tokyo claim that Britain's Warspite had been destroyed was promptly scotched in London by an admiralty announcement that neither the Warspite nor any other British battleship was sunk or damaged.

Tokyo has thus far done more than either Washington or American headquarters in Australia to point up the fight as a major sea battle. There is obvious propaganda as well as fishing for information in the naming of the Warspite, an American battleship of the California class and the American plane-carriers Saratoga and Yorktown as casualties.

Jap Fleet Hard Hit

There is no doubt, however, that nearly a score of Japanese craft engaged on one offensive mission, including light and heavy cruisers, lesser war craft, transports and supply ships, have been sunk or damaged beyond early repair. That virtually confirms the assumption that an American task force of relatively light strength intercepted a well guarded Japanese invasion convoy near the Solomons and scored heavily in the first clash. The running fight followed, although there is still little to suggest a major fleet action.

That may be in progress or impending. It would depend upon the disposition of the main elements of the Japanese and American fleets. That Japan is ready to risk her battle fleet far down in the southwest corner of the Pacific leaving the approaches to Japan itself and her China sea lifelines screened only by her north and central Pacific island outposts is hardly believable.

Pap Plans Unknown

Whether the intercepted Japanese convoy was headed toward Australia or New Guinea or merely endeavoring to expand southward chain of island bases designed to cut American-Australian communications remains unknown. That last objective seems the logical Japanese course and an American-Japanese clash for control of those islands that fringe the Coral Sea to the east has been inevitable.

The continuing sea action tends to confirm the impression that the Japanese have shifted their main

Farmers,

Shore farms between July 10 and 20, and at about the same time tomatoes, leading the lend-lease produce, begin ripening, the harvest lasting until early October.

The buyer said the state's corn-producing centers, Dorchester, Taibot, Harford, Frederick and Carroll counties, might also be affected by the labor shortage.

Many Laborers Needed

On the Eastern Shore was the state's largest vegetable acreage, he declared, and that area would feel the pinch more than the rest of the state.

To adequately harvest Maryland's crops, 2,000 or 3,000 farm laborers would be needed, the buyer said. Labor has been reported at a premium in Prince Georges, Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's counties.

Farmers in the section contended the new government project at Cedar Point, the new plants at Indian Head, and other defense industries had drained their labor supply. They argued they were willing to pay better wages than ever, but that there was nobody to pay.

Frederick county farmers complained that many laborers were commuting to Baltimore for work in war industries.

Judge Jails Soldier Dressed in Coveralls

KANSAS CITY, May 8 (AP)—Pvt. George Edward Berry appeared before U. S. District Judge Albert L. Reeves today in coveralls and was sentenced to two years for car theft.

The 25-year-old Fort Leavenworth soldier came into court yesterday wearing his uniform. Judge Reeves ordered him to return to jail.

"I have adopted the policy of sentencing no man while he is wearing the uniform of the United States," the judge said.

Berry, who enlisted in 1933 from Beckley, W. Va., previously had served one year for desertion. He admitted theft of an automobile from a Kansas City parking lot last February.

of naval transport elements for the coordinated attack of combined forces which was initiated several days ago. Our naval forces then attacked in interceptions.

"They were handled with marked skill, fought with admirable courage and tenacity and the enemy has been repulsed. Our attacks will continue."

First eyewitness accounts reaching an advanced Allied base said hundreds of Japanese crewmen had to dive overboard amid smoke and flame from two aircraft carriers sunk or damaged by aerial bombs in the first blow of the Allied assault.

These reports said Japanese personnel losses may run into the thousands.

Jap Carriers Destroyed

Japanese destroyers tried desperately but vainly to save the carriers, blasted into torn and blazing hulks by American bombing planes which pressed home their attack in a hell of anti-aircraft fire and challenging hordes of Japanese zero fighters.

"We might have been blasted out of our beds last night if this hadn't happened," commented one naval spokesman ashore on the results thus far of the still-raging battle.

"But we got in there and did the job," he asserted, adding that "one Japanese carrier was seen sinking and the other was hit from stem to stern."

(According to the British news agency Reuters, this second carrier also sank.)

Late in the day, a communique from this headquarters disclosed that ten Japanese ships had been sunk and six badly damaged and stated only as to the Allied side.

"Our own losses are not reported."

Japanese Version

A communique of the Imperial Japanese command broadcast by the Tokyo radio claimed that a U. S. battleship of the California type and two U. S. aircraft carriers of the Saratoga and Yorktown types had been sunk and that a British (Australian) cruiser of the Canberra type and a British battleship of the Warspite type had been heavily damaged.

There was no immediate comment here upon these claims but the British admiralty in London at once announced flatly:

"... There is no truth whatever in the Japanese suggestion that HMS Warspite or any other British battleship had been sunk or damaged in the action which now is reported to be proceeding in the Coral Sea."

Allied successes newly reported Friday—the thunderous action had started on Monday—included the sinking of a Japanese aircraft carrier and a heavy cruiser and severe damage to another enemy aircraft carrier and another heavy cruiser.

This, together with previously announced results, thus formed the known score against the enemy as of Friday night:

Sunk: an aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats and a supply ship.

Damaged and believed a total loss: another aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, a 9,000-ton seaplane tender, a cargo vessel and a transport.

In the dragging hours of suspense, while the unfolding of the great drama was awaited all over the world, Prime Minister Curtin of Australia went before the House of Representatives this to assess as much of the situation as was known:

Curtin's Statement

"I have received information from the commander of the allied forces of the southwest Pacific that a great naval battle is proceeding the southwest Pacific area. This battle arises from operations which I announced earlier today had begun May 4 with some losses to the enemy."

"What is taking place is of crucial importance to the whole conduct of the war in this theater. I have no information as to how this engagement is developing. I would like the nation to know, however, that there will be on the part of our forces and the forces of the United States that devotion to duty which is characteristic of the naval and air forces of the United States, Britain and this commonwealth."

"One further thing I should say: nobody at this moment can tell what the result of this engagement will be. If it should go advantageously we will have cause for great gratitude and our position will be clearer."

"But if we should not have the advantages in this battle which we hope for, we will have a sterner, more arduous and greater responsibility."

Appeals to People

"This battle will not decide the war. It will determine the immediate tactics which will be

TYPICAL COLLEGE GIRL

Dorothy Roberts, Miss Roberts, of New Rochelle, New York, a Jackson college senior, is a typical college graduate. While Dorothy plans to get married after graduation, she also intends to carve out a career for herself. She is engaged to Albert Shaw, Tufts college senior, who is due for a commission in naval aviation. After their marriage Dorothy expects to go to work while Albert will be in the navy.

pursued by ourselves and the common enemy. I ask the people of Australia having regard to the grave consequences implicit in this engagement, to take a sober realistic estimate of their duty to the nation."

"As I speak those who are participating in this engagement are conforming to the sternest discipline, subjecting themselves with all they have — the last measure of devotion it may be for many of them—to accomplishing the increased safety and security of this territory."

"And in the face of their example and their discipline I feel it is not asking overmuch of every citizen who today is being defended by these gallant men in this area to regard himself as being engaged in the second line service of Australia. This today is the front line. It needs the maximum support of every man and woman in the commonwealth."

"With all the responsibility which I feel, which the government feels, which I am quite sure parliament as a whole shares, I put it to every man whom these words reach—however they may reach him—that he owes it to those men and the future of the country not to be stinting in what he will now do for Australia."

"Men are fighting for Australia today, Mr. Speaker. Those who are not fighting have no excuse for not working."

This was Curtin's second statement of the day, and it was soberly received. In the first he had given the American report of the initial phase of the battle—a report showing a tremendous early American success—and this had been greeted with cheers.

Nelson Indorses Two Maryland Proposals

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 8 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chairman, has indorsed two proposals submitted recently by Maryland's Labor Victory Board, Governor O'Connor announced today.

O'Connor said Nelson commended the Maryland board's voluntary proposal to submit periodic defense production reports to his office and also approved the group's plans to make "individual awards" to outstanding defense workers.

Copies of Nelson's letter to the governor already have been mailed to the six board members with O'Connor's suggestion that they immediately consider the "best possible methods" to put the proposals into effect.

Nelson recommended that production reports be submitted monthly. He asked that increases be noted by percentages rather than by "revealing figures."

Plans to make awards to individual workers, along lines closely paralleling the Navy efficiency "E" awards to manufacturers, will go forward as quickly as possible, O'Connor declared.

50 More Frenchmen Executed by Nazis

VICHY, May 8 (AP)—The German authorities in Paris executed five hostages and tentatively condemned fifty others today for an attack on a German soldier May 2, and published an order forbidding the use of bicycles after dark in almost half of occupied France.

The announcement said the fifty others would be shot and 500 more sent to work camps in eastern Germany if the attackers were not discovered.

The ban on bicycles was designed to stem the wave of attacks. The order noted that persons who have attacked Nazi soldiers or committed acts of sabotage usually had bicycles at hand for quick escape.

Rationing of Pork Being Considered

BOISE, Idaho, May 8 (AP)—Rationing of pork in the United States is under consideration by federal authorities, F. E. Molin of Denver, secretary of the National Livestock Association, told the Idaho Cattlemen's Association today.

He did not mention beef rationing but remarked the "demand of allied countries for our meat is increasing instead of decreasing. It's anybody's guess what the future will bring."

Body of Missing Baby Found in Tree

TURKEY, Okla., May 8 (AP)—The body of a baby torn from his mother's arms by a tornado which devastated this farm community last Saturday was found today in the branches of a tree.

The baby, nine-months-old Othul Spence, Jr., and two sisters disappeared in the flood waters of Bird creek after the tornado picked up their four-room home, carried it 300 feet through the air, and dropped it into the stream.

The tree in which the body was found was under water at the time of the tornado.

The sisters, Lucille, 8, and Frankie, 6, have not been found, although a searching party has been dragging the creek and combing the nearby countryside for six days.

Slacks Are Not A Moral Issue, Dr. Myers Says

By GARRY C. Myers, Ph. D.
The great controversy over whether women and girls should or should not wear slacks does not seem to me to be a moral one. Since there is nothing either exhibitionistic or immodest in these outfits the issue seems merely to be one of expediency.

Personally I believe that slacks are here to stay and I think they are excellent when worn on the right occasions. The girl who works on a farm, in a war industry, classroom, laboratory or assembly hall can move about more freely and gracefully in slacks. The same costume is both more appropriate and comfortable for most outdoor activities.

Some old men, a few middle-aged ones and even some young men are violent in their criticism of "women wearing pants." They are used to the femininity of skirts and feel that women are usurping a masculine privilege. This may be, subconsciously, their chief objection because due to the physical freedom this apparel affords, some girls can compete, even excel, in certain active games of skill which men have always supposed were beyond feminine mastery.

Needless Worry

These gentlemen shouldn't worry, however, over a mere change of clothing making women masculine. Feminine intuition tells most women that slacks are not very flattering. They realize that the female figure in masculine or near-masculine attire doesn't inspire the male consciousness with a desire to be either romantic or protective. So they don their prettiest frocks when they wish to appeal to the opposite sex, and gain added appeal by the sudden contrast of costume.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. "My baby is five months old. When should I try to get him to take milk from a cup?"

A. Try him a bit now. Go at it very tenderly, avoiding his resistance. Try him from time to time later on, then he might be the more ready for weaning at the age of eight or nine months.

Q. What do you advise for whims in the tot—wanting to sit only in a certain chair, having break broken just so, or being served by a certain person only?

A. Quit catering to his whims. Let him sit in the chair available or stand, eat the bread offered or none, accept the food or drink from whoever gives, it or go without.

Q. "Can a child read too much?"

A. Assuming that the books he reads are wholesome and he gets ample sleep, ample outdoor recreation with many others of his age, that he has good light and does not over-tax his eyes, be happy that your child is a great reader.

Q. Do you have any special helps on sleep problems of a child four or five?

A. Yes; write me for these enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

For Smart Homes

Settle those towel disputes with a smart "His" or "Hers" monogram. Embroidered on towels or pillow slips, they're a lovely gift for a bride. Pattern 214 contains a transfer pattern of twelve motifs averaging 4x7 inches; materials required; illustrations of stitches.

Send ten cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for this pattern to Cumberland News, Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

A new aluminum plant just placed in operation can make in one month fifty percent more tons of airplane sheet than the whole country produced in 1938.

Tacks and Thread Save Steps

TOPEKA, Kas., (AP)—A handful of tacks, a few feet of thread and some old aerial photographs bought from the AAA are helping the Kansas Highway Department keep pace with war's demands for speed.

Using the pictures to check topography, highway engineers select right-of-way locations without leaving their offices, marking the best routes with tacks and thread.

"Rather tricky, isn't it?" asks state highway director D. J. Fair. "But gosh, it saves time and money, and it seems to work perfectly, too."

Anti-Hitler Germans Active in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A split has developed among rightist Germans in Mexico and anti-Hitler conservatives have seized the former Nazi newspaper and are operating it as an anti-Hitler organ, the Free German movement here reported.

The Nazi paper was closed by the government in March. The Free Germans said the anti-Hitler conservatives had taken the name and format and were continuing to publish it. In the first issue in its new guise, the Free Germans said, the paper called on all members of the "German Brotherhood" here to resign and to begin working against Hitler. The anti-Hitler group is reported to be composed of members of the National German party, the official conservative party in Germany before Hitler came to power.

VIOLATIONS OF FISHING REGULATIONS RESULT IN MANY FINES

Three fishermen have been fined in recent days for violations of regulations. It was reported yesterday by Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke.

Two of the defendants, Bernard Fazenbaker, of Bloomington, and Melvin Lohr, of Mt. Savage, were fined $10 and costs by Magistrate C. S. Zeller at Grantsville for using a spinner in waters restricted to fly-fishing. Fazenbaker was arrested along Savage river and Lohr along Cherry run.

The third angler was Lester Cole, of New York, who paid a $10 fine imposed by Magistrate Zeller for fishing with an improper license. Minke said he had used a license issued to another person.

Announcing an enforcement drive in Washington county, the regional warden said that Deputy District Game Warden Battle Mixon and some of his deputies, now patrolling that area with Minke, had arrested and obtained the conviction of three anglers for using more than the legal number of hooks, which is two. Each was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate E. G. Miller at Boonsboro. Minke said, adding that eight more persons have been cited to appear Saturday for hearings in similar cases.

Michael F. O'Neill, Jr., was toastmaster and short talks were given by Nelson Cosma, James Jacobs, John Shaffer, Richard DuVall, John Hanson and A. Grafton Wallis, captains of the teams.

The entertainment by the Ward Palmer quartet included vocal and instrumental pieces.

Jay Van's orchestra played for the dancing which was attended by approximately 150 couples.

A Cappella Choir To Give Program

The Fort Hill A Cappella Choir will present a concert at 8 o'clock May 12 in the auditorium of Grace community hall, Virginia avenue and Second street, in continuation of National Music Week.

The program will include sacred and secular music, with Miss Dorothy Seiber directing.

Because of the concert the regular service Wednesday evening will not be held.

PRIZE RECIPE for Jumbo "FRENCH TOAST"

Next Sunday morning serve this combination of nourishment and deliciousness — Jumbo Peanut Butter French Toast. Perfect, too, for those cold spring evenings. Be sure you use Frank's Jumbo Peanut Butter. It's creamier, easier to blend. Just right for this recipe.

- 1 cupful Frank's Jumbo Peanut Butter
- 1 cupful hot milk
- 1/2 teaspoonful salt
- Dash of pepper
- Slices of bread

Mix Frank's Jumbo Peanut Butter with milk and add salt and pepper. Quickly dip slices of bread into this mixture and brown quickly in a skillet with two tablespoons hot fat. Do not use much fat as the oil of the peanut butter is almost sufficient for frying. Serve crisp and hot — Yummy!

He Was Old Enough to Have Forgotten a Lot of Things, but Not These Rare Tricks He Had Been Born With

A 63 a man is usually washed up and ready for an old-age pension and the traditional rocking

"I'm Gonna Apply for the Job."

Chair, but at 63 Sam Bartlett was he saw the ad in the paper. "I still looking in the 'help wanted' knew it! I knew it!"

"Mind you, Clara," he was waiting room from the kitchen. "What to say to his wife, 'the time will in the Sam Hill has come over come when they will be abegging you?' she demanded."

It took a gigantic struggle in the ad. "It says here that Schoffen & Pacific, it took a government or- Son—say seems I heard that name store!—want a man who knows horses. I knew the day of the horse would come back!"

"Horses!" Clara said with dismay. "Now, Sam, you know the tricks you pulled over the poor buyers ain't going to get you no job."

"Just the same," Sam returned. "I'm gonna apply for the job. It's probably some big outfit getting ready to put horse-drawn rigs in service soon as this rubber shortage gets really bad. They need a buyer, an 'I know horses like nobody's business'."

Sam Bartlett, aged 63, and showing it with his cotton-white hair, seamed face and slightly stooped figure, felt an inner glow of happiness, as he waited on a bench which faced a door marked:

J. Schoffen, President.

By golly! the day of the horse was really back and he, Sam Bartlett, was just the man for this job. Why, he remembered 40 years ago when

"Mr. Schoffen will see you now, sir. Right in there, please."

Sam Bartlett thanked the girl at the desk with a nod of his white-thatched head and entered the indicated office. In the center of the room set a desk and behind it sat a puffy-cheeked, bespectacled man with blond hair.

"I'm Mr. Schoffen," the man behind the desk said. "You came in answer to our ad, I presume?"

Sam nodded. "How old are you?"

Sam experienced a sinking feeling in the pit of his stomach. There it was again—his age. "Sixty-five, sir," he answered.

Mr. Schoffen shook his head disapprovingly. "A bit old," he murmured. "I'm sor—"

Sam knew what was coming and leaped into the breach. "Look, Mr. Schoffen," he pleaded. "I know I'm old, but I want to ask you one question before you make up your mind!"

"Okay! ask it."

"You're getting ready to buy up a lot of good horses, aren't you?"

"Well, then, Mr. Schoffen. Do you want a young man who knows nothing about horses, or do you want an older—even an old man who knows every darn trick the sellers will try to pull on your firm?"

"You were a buyer?"

Sam shook his head negatively. "Nope! I sold 'em."

"You sold horses?"

"Strictly phonies," Sam admitted. "Phonies?"

"Yep. Sold counterfeit, plugs, that weren't worth $10 I got $50 and $75 for."

"But we're looking for—" the man behind the desk began.

Sam Bartlett, aged 63, went on the offensive. Why, I remember the time," Sam chorled, "when a Dutchman who was a buyer for one of the big breweries came to my barn. I sized him up an' played dumb. So dumb that he turned to the guy that was with him and said, 'This fool don't know anything about horses!'"

"Well, I wanted him to think that way. I showed him a perfectly sound horse and told him that the horse had a bog spavin. I showed him some more perfectly sound horses an' told him there was something wrong with each one. When he told me I don't know a single thing about horses, I said, 'I should know, I used 'em my self!'"

"I'm sorry, the man behind the desk decided, 'but you are definitely not the man—'"

His mouth was cut short by the entrance of a white-haired, roly-poly man. "But he definitely is the man we are looking for!" the newcomer announced with a smile.

"The door, fortunately, was cracked open, and I overheard everything. We've found our man, Jerry."

"But, dad," came from behind the desk. "He was bragging about—"

"Putting it over a fat old fool," the father finished for him. "Well, son, I happen to be the same fat fool. You've never traded with horse dealers, have you son? Well, I have. And I say we need a man who knows their tricks!"

The roly-poly one shook his finger at Sam Bartlett's face. "Sam Bartlett, you old renegade of a plug seller," he announced. "I'm still fool enough to hire you. But don't you dare let any dealer trick a truckster like you!"

You Are the One

by ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

SYNOPSIS
TIBBY LANE, sweet and natural; STEENA WINTERS, beautiful and sophisticated; and MARG, staid, sturdy and direct, share an apartment together in New York, where they are based. A friend of Tibby's.
TOMMY DARE, is spending his first year out of medical school at a clinic in Brooklyn.
WAYNE COURTHRIGHT, wealthy official of the airline.
CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
WHEN THE phone finally rang after that interminable period of waiting, and both girls reached for it, it was Tibby who got there first. Steena had reached out an arm, but had not gotten up.
Tibby said, "Yes!" breathlessly, her heart pounding in her ears so she wondered if she would be able to hear, for now that the moment had come, maybe it WOULD be worse than that waiting. "Yes, this is Tibby." And at the other end of the wire, as she had known it would be, was Wayne. His voice calm, steady.
"We just got word," he told her. "Sorry I could not call sooner, but we wanted to keep all wires open. The plane is safely landed. Captain Mercer managed to get it right down on a nice ice floe that held up until the rescue ships came. All passengers and all members of the crew are safe."
All safe... the relief this brought was so enormous that it left Tibby weak. That meant that Marg was all right, that she would say her funny, pat things again.
"That roommate of yours," there was an amused chuckle over the wire. "It seems she's quite a heroine! But you'll read all about it in the morning papers. Feel better now? There was a new note in the assured voice, a note almost of tenderness.
"Oh, yes—much better!" Tibby breathed, easily, effortlessly, more. "Thank you so much for calling. It was so good of you to remember, to let me know."
"Did you think I could forget?" There was no doubt as to the tenderness in his tone now. "You should know better than that, my dear."
"I didn't think you would," Tibby protested, red, the ever-ready color mounting her cheeks. Of course he had not meant anything in calling her that, but she was glad just the same that Steena—and Tommy—could hear only what was said at this end of the line. "I knew how busy you'd be, and it's so late—"
"No matter how busy or how late," his voice was as firm now as it had been gentle, "I don't forget a promise made. In fact, it seems lately—that I don't forget you. You are very much on my mind, young lady. ALL of the time."
If Tibby had been glad before

15 Will Receive Awards Tomorrow At CSMC Rally

Parade at 3:30 Will Precede Exercises at Fort Hill Stadium

Twelve students and three graduates of Allegany county Catholic schools will receive special awards tomorrow at exercises to be held in conjunction with the parade and rally of the Western Maryland Conference, Catholic Students Mission Crusade, in the Fort Hill high school stadium.

Awards which will include the Archbishop Curley medal and Padma medals will be presented by the Rev. Boniface Weckman, O.F.M., Cap., pastor of St. Peter and Paul church, to Robert Brown, Mary Aaron, Dolores Elrich, Phyllis Sell, Matilda Barry, John Glick, Mary Evelyn Beck, Helen Andrews, Bernard Byrnes, Catherine Byrnes, Mary Rita Wilson and Rose Mary Smith, of school C.S.M.C. units, and Pvt. First Class C. Leo Connell, of Mericli Veteran Unit, and DeSales Cooke and Charles Brode, of Gallitzen Veteran Unit.

Six Priests Named

Solemn benediction will be held at the stadium at 4 p. m., with the Rev. Dominic Bonomo, assistant pastor of St. Michael's church, Frostburg, as celebrant. Other clergymen who will participate are the Revs. Lawrence P. Landrigan, Francis J. McKeown, Elmer T. Fisher and John C. Broderick.

The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. W. Joyce Russell, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church, Oldtown road. The program at the stadium, opening with the Pledge to the Flag by Robert Brown, of LaSalle high school, will be broadcast over radio station WTBO.

State Guards Will March

A two-division parade marshaled by Capt. Thomas F. Conlon and Capt. Richard P. Shireman, commanding officers of the two local companies of the Maryland State Guard, will be held preceding the stadium exercises.

The first division will be headed by the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post No. 141, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and will comprise Companies C and D, of the Maryland State Guard, visiting veteran and school units of the C.S.M.C.

Leading the second division will be the band of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, followed by Holy Name societies, boy scouts and parishioners of all parishes.

Parade Starts at 3:30

Assembling at St. Mary's church at 3 p. m., the paraders will start marching at 3:30 p. m. to A street, Kent avenue, Brookfield avenue, Greenway avenue and thence to the stadium.

In event of rain, services will be held in St. Mary's church.

Two Local Girls Elected Officers of Mortar Board

Miss Nancy Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Holland, 762 Fayette street, and Miss Jane Showacre, 11 South Waverly terrace, were elected officers of the Mortar Board, having been tapped for membership earlier in the week at the University of Maryland. Miss Holland was elected president and Miss Showacre, treasurer.

The Mortar Board is a national leadership honorary society for senior women.

Miss Holland is president of Kappa Delta sorority and vice-president of the Woman's League. Miss Showacre is president of the Women's Recreation Association, and Women's editor of the Diamondback, the student paper. Both were members of the day committee and will be seniors next year.

Woman Is Not Guilty Of Disorderly Conduct

Found not guilty of disorderly conduct when she was given a hearing in police court Monday morning, bond of $10 was refunded to Mrs. Charles T. Miller, 47 North Liberty street.

She and her husband were arrested early last Saturday night by Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman and Officer John G. Powers. Both were charged with disorderly conduct and Miller was found guilty and fined $10.

Woman Is Burned as She Tends Stoker

Mrs. Nola Burger, 615 Sedgwick street, was treated in Memorial hospital last night for second degree burns on all the fingers of her left hand.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Burger was tending a stoker when flames burned her as she opened a door. Gas is believed to have accumulated in the furnace and forced the flames out when the door was opened.

Small Piece of Steel Pierces Man's Toe

Foster P. Shipley, 33, Town Creek, was treated in Allegany hospital at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning for an injury to the fourth toe of his right foot. Hospital attaches said a small piece of steel pierced the digit while he was working in the Baltimore and Ohio railroad shops. He was given treatment at the B and O dispensary before being taken to the hospital.

U. S. Armed Forces Now on Duty on 37 World Fronts

After but five months of war, United States armed forces have been established at 37 separate points throughout this war-torn world. This myriad of American outposts is constantly being strengthened as the outpouring of American manpower and war material into the war against the Axis rapidly increases.

Beatrice Fairfax Says Hobbies Are Good Family Ally

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX—Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage—Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

After the rice and confetti are thrown and the newlyweds start off on their wedding tour, imagining that life is going to be one grand sweet song, as it was in the good old courting days, let them stop, look and listen.

A mighty boredom and reaction is likely to set in, the routine someone has called "the eternal dullness." The question which was so thrilling in courting days, "Have you ever loved anyone as you have loved me?" is likely to bring anything but those old fond denials.

"Who's Papa's precious?" asked a baffled bridegroom of four months, trying to recapture some of the pre-wedding magic.

"Papa is," promptly answered the bride who had discovered unexplored depths of selfishness in her new husband.

Don't Refer to Clutter

What's left to keep these awful doldrums from married life? Congeniality of tastes, a sense of humor—that magic touch which puts a sparkle into everyday happenings—and hobbies.

The wife, having more at stake in marriage than her husband, considers his likes, dislikes and hobbies. The husband, recognizing the Little Woman is a good sort after all, considers her hobbies. If the newlyweds are so happy as to have a home in the suburbs, no matter if it isn't bigger than a bird-cage, she will probably plant a garden. And he, stacking up insurance on his future happiness, consents to do a little spade-work.

His hobby may be painting, etching, carpentry, photography, radio-making, stamp collecting, block printing, cabinet work or anything else which charms his hours of ease. Don't fuss over the chips and mess. Let him have his carpenter's bench, messy chemicals or anything else that goes with his hobby. And don't refer to clutter.

The Family Ally

Many a siren lying in wait to gobble up some other woman's good husband has been defeated by the hobby waiting for him at home. Hobbies are life-savers, family savers, anchors that prevent that one marriage in six from going on the rocks. Be grateful for hobbies. They're the family ally.

If the man of the house like to have his friends in for cards and a pleasant evening at home, it's up to the Little Woman to learn how to make attractive sandwiches and set out whatever the boys like to have with them—coffee, beer, or soft drinks. "A good time was had by all" is a fine domestic insurance policy.

Mother Has An Aversion

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I'm in love with a red-haired man who means all the world to me. However, my mother opposes our even seeing each other. My father had red hair and ran off with another woman when I was a small child. This has given my mother an uncontrollable hatred for all red-haired men.

I support my mother and love her very dearly, but she doesn't seem to understand me at all. I don't know what she could do to take care of herself if I should marry the only man I shall ever love. Should I stick by my mother, when I know I'll be miserable or take a chance at happiness? I'm 27 years old now and have never had many boy friends.

DESPONDENT.

If your mother's aversion to all red-headed men had not such tragic implications, it would be downright funny. Why imagine that because a red-haired man is faithless,

MISS FOREIGN TRADE

Pretty Lois James, chosen "Miss Foreign Trade," will represent America's sea-borne commerce in the coming celebration of Foreign Trade week. With wartime conditions stressing the need of products brought from abroad, the importance of foreign trade is being emphasized especially this year.

I understand, since July 19, 1940, men enlisting in the Canadian army are rated as single. Nevertheless, if they are married and there is a child, the army recognizes that fact. Some provision is made for the first two children.

THREE MORE SIGN UP FOR ELKS' AVIATION "REFRESHER" COURSE

Three applicants for the United States Aviation Cadet "refresher" course, sponsored by the B.P.O. Elks, were signed up last night. It was announced by Charles M. Stump, chairman of the War committee of Cumberland lodge No. 63.

Joseph Montana, chairman of the Frostburg lodge, advised Stump that two men signed up there while the third was enrolled at the Elks' home here.

Applications received in Frostburg were from John P. Willis, 26, of Westernport, graduate of Bruce high school and Paul I. McDade, 20, of Frostburg, graduate of Beall high school. Both are employed at the Celanese plant.

Ralph F. Frantz, 26, of 322 Bedford street, graduate of Allegany high school and Celanese employee, filed his application with lodge No. 63.

Thirteen men have signed for the course.

Higher Priority Asked By City To Purchase Airport Materials

The City of Cumberland will seek a higher priority rating from the Office of Production Management to purchase certain materials that the city must furnish for the municipal airport project in Wiley Ford W. Va., Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, announced yesterday.

Rizer said that the city now has an A-10 rating and is seeking an A-1-E rating as sponsor of the airport project. The city engineer explained that the lower the rating the harder it is to obtain materials.

The airport is classified as an essential defense project and Rizer is of the opinion that the city will experience no difficulty in obtaining a higher rating.

First Brethren Church To Have Home Coming And Revival Meeting

The First Brethren church, Fourth and Seymour streets, will have a home-coming Sunday. The Rev. H. R. Garland, minister, will preach in the morning on "An Old-Time Mother." The Rev. N. V. Leatherman, of Berlin, Pa., Brethren church, will have charge of services at 2 p. m.

A two-week revival meeting will start Sunday and continue to May 24. The Rev. Floyd Sibert, of the First Brethren church, Pittsburgh, Pa., will be the evangelist starting Monday evening. His subject will be "I've Delivered the Message." Services begin at 7:30 p. m.

First Methodist Church Will Mark Student Day

June 14 has been declared the seventy-first annual Methodist Student Day by Dr. Harry Wright McPherson, Nashville, Tenn. It will be observed in the First Methodist church this city on June 7 because of the annual Baltimore Conference convening June 3 at Western Maryland college, Westminster.

Bishop Adrian Leonard will preside. Bishop Leonard has charge of the Central Pennsylvania conference, Maryland Peninsula and the Baltimore conference.

Pastors from the three Baltimore districts, the two Washington districts and the Hagerstown district will attend. The latter district includes the churches of Barton, Lonaconing, Midland, Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Eckhart, Ellerslie, Hyndman, Bedford, Union Grove, Mt. Pleasant, Davis Memorial, Paw Paw, Oldtown, Plintstone, Cresaptown and the twelve churches in Cumberland.

Browning Hint

Broiled vegetables brown better when dipped in salad oil or melted butter.

With Our Boys In the Service

James B. Craig, former Cumberland News reporter, has cabled that he has arrived safely in Australia. Craig has been in the army since April, 1941. He has been promoted to corporal since his friends last heard from him in February. "Craig described the voyage as "grand".

Pvt. First Class David Scollick, son of Mrs. Bertha Scollick, 111 Shaw place, has been assigned to the Sixty-eighth Armored Field Artillery, First Armored Division, at Fort Knox, Ky.

Frank F. Daniels, of Hyndman, Pa., and Francis Stein, of 213 Emily street, this city, are home on ten-day furloughs from naval service. Both enlisted at the local recruiting station. Stein had been a patient in the Naval Hospital at Charleston, S. C.

Pvt. Joseph Chorpennig, Fifth United States Marines, New River, N. C., is home on a short leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chorpennig, Sr., Vocke drive.

Private Louis Zais, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zais, 51 Greene street, has finished a course in radio signal service at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and is now stationed at a Florida air base.

Army enlistments yesterday at the local recruiting station today include Donald T. McGraw, 925 Grand avenue, and Harry L. James, Oakland.

Navy Lowers Age For Enlistment As Flying Cadets

Taking a radical step in lowering the age of educational qualifications for flying cadets, the navy has announced that youths of eighteen years may now, under certain circumstances, become flying officers of the navy.

However, it was emphasized by recruiting spokesmen here that only those who have graduated from accredited secondary schools and who can pass the rigid flight physical examinations will be allowed to enter training.

The plan offers young men with only secondary education their first opportunity to apply for flight training leading to commissioned officer status.

Local navy recruiting offices are equipped to handle applicants possessing the educational and physical qualifications and who are 18 and not more than 26 years old.

Class V-5, under which the new applicants will be accepted, has been limited heretofore to those who had at least two years of college credits. However, the new V-5 plan will not interfere with the V-1 program under which thousands of students now in college will be trained for aviation, deck or engineering duties.

School Officials Meet Today To Plan Gas Registration

Principals of Allegany county schools will meet today at 10 a. m. at the Board of Education offices to receive instructions on handling the gasoline rationing next week.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said yesterday that books of instruction on the emergency plan for gasoline rationing have arrived and will be distributed to school principals Monday. The gasoline registration will be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Registration hours will be announced today.

Brown-shell eggs have just as much food value as white-shell eggs.

Girl Scouts Helping Community Chest With Campaign

Girl Scout Troops No. 14 and 5 have been helping the Community Chest campaign by handling supplies and other tasks about the Chest headquarters. They have counted out the red tabs which will be used this year as an emblem designating donors to the fund.

Ursula Bucki, Anne Orris and Florence Hartley worked at the headquarters this week. Boy and Girl Scouts will assist in distributing folders and information on Community Chest Sunday after church services. Various Chest agencies have exhibited displays at Chest headquarters, 31 Baltimore street, depicting the work they do for the underprivileged.

Two Local Girls Will Participate in Food Exhibition at School

Two Cumberland girls who are students at the University of Maryland will participate in the university's "Consumer Education Day" May 15 at which time an exhibition of wartime food substitutes and methods of food conservation will be given.

Ruth Lee Thompson is one of the girls in charge of food displays while Doris H. McFarland is chairman of publicity. The university Home Economics Department is sponsoring the show.

Two More Patents Granted Celanese

A refinement in the process of making staple fibers of cellulose acetate for the manufacture of fluff or napped fabrics—either woven or knitted—which do not readily shed the individual fibers is indicated in United States Letters Patent No. 2,281,647 granted this week to Celanese Corporation of America.

As a result of this discovery it is possible to use cellulose acetate staple fibers for the manufacture of fabrics suitable for making blankets, skirts, lumber jackets and other similar materials.

United States Letters Patent No. 2,281,646, relating to the preparation of stiffened fabrics and to apparel, such as collars, cuffs and the like, formed of such fabrics, also was granted to Celanese Corporation of America.

Mrs. M. V. Robertson Dies at Oldtown Home

Mrs. Mary V. Robertson, 68, died at her home near Oldtown about 8 o'clock last night. She is survived by five children, Chester, Merten, Mrs. Goldie Dolan, Mrs. Sylvia Crabtree and Mrs. Ethel Wilson, three step-children, James Robertson, Paw Paw, W. Va.; Victor Robertson, Cumberland; and Mrs. Minnie Catlett. Seventeen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at Oldtown Methodist church. Interment will be in Green Ridge cemetery.

Fire Bomb Control Is Taught Policemen Here

One hundred and sixty-five auxiliary civilian defense policemen and forty-five members of the city police force attended classes in city hall yesterday to receive instruction on handling incendiary bombs.

Two classes were held, one in the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and the other at 7:30 o'clock last night. William Kaldor was the instructor.

Man Lacerates Head

Charles R. Wolford, 21, Valley road, Route 3, was treated in Allegany hospital shortly after midnight yesterday morning for a laceration near his left temple. He suffered the injury when he fell and struck his head.

Judges Convict

believe the man is sick; his disability is not feigned or assumed. This statement was apparently in reference to earlier efforts of the prosecution, at a hearing some weeks ago in Hagerstown, to show that Baker was "faking" his illness. In the trials here, however, State Attorney Charles F. Wagoner made no issue of Baker's condition and did not contradict statements by Defense Counsel Leo Weinberg to the effect that the defendants were still seriously ill as a result of an automobile accident in December, 1941.

In fact, said Weinberg in his closing argument, as a result of a brain concussion suffered in the wreck, Baker faces the prospect of either going blind or becoming "hopelessly insane."

The duty of "sitting in judgment on a fellow-member of the bar" Judge Sloan described as "one of the two most distressing experiences I have undergone in the years I have spent on the bench" and as "an extremely unpleasant task."

"There is no joy in it for any one," he added.

Lawyers Are Praised

Declaring that the court was greatly aided by "the skillful way the cases were handled," the chief judge congratulated the defendant for "being so ably represented."

It was especially gratifying, he said, in view of the fact that Weinberg and William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney volunteered to defend Baker.

The fact that they volunteered, Judge Sloan asserted, "is very much to their credit."

The decision was handed down by the court after a luncheon recess which followed final arguments by the attorneys. Judge Sloan began his discussion of the cases at 2:15 p. m. and spoke for nearly a half-hour.

Judge Sloan pointed out at the outset that "embezzlement is one of the most technical offenses known to criminal law" and went on to read its definition from a law dictionary.

The first case in which he pronounced the verdict of guilty was that in which Baker was charged with embezzlement of $2,000 in Pennsylvania railroad bonds from Miss Cassie E. W. Albert.

In this case the jurist commented, "the state 'proved beyond a reasonable doubt all elements necessary to make up embezzlement.'"

Embezzled, $2,500, Court Says

The other case in which the state won a conviction was that in which Baker was charged in the indictment with embezzling $1,000 from E. Ross Brewer. The court found in this case that Baker had embezzled $2,500, even allowing for $1,000 which the prosecution admitted had been paid to or on behalf of Brewer, and Judge Sloan declared that "we see no escape from a verdict of guilty."

The court held that Baker was not guilty of embezzling $2,000 in Hagerstown water bonds from the estate of Miss Henrietta M. Albert, of which he was executor. This verdict was reached in view of the fact that the "remedies applicable by the orphan's court" had not been exhausted. The statute covering embezzlement by executors does not apply, the court said, until the estate is finally settled in orphan's court. Admittedly, Baker had not filed an inventory of personal property in orphan's court, nor had an account been stated.

As to the cases in which Baker was accused of embezzling funds aggregating $3,500 from Mrs. Vernie E. Beckley, Judge Sloan declared that although the defendants conducted was "flagrant," the offenses were not in violation of the statute cited in the indictment.

In the one case, in which the accused attorney was charged with embezzling $1,175 entrusted to him for investment in a first mortgage, the offense "savours more of breach of trust," the jurist commented, while in the other, in which $2,325 was allegedly embezzled, he said it was difficult to state whether it was breach of trust or false pretense.

The defendant heard the verdict and sentence without any visible sign of emotion, but during the discussion of whether he might be released under bond until it is determined whether an appeal is to be taken, he arose and in a trembling voice asked if he might say a word.

Granted permission by the court, he said, "I go back to the hospital next week." At this point, he appeared crushed by the decision and very close to tears. Later, he sat quietly at the counsel table while his wife assisted in arranging for renewal of his bond.

Three other indictments, charging embezzlement of other funds from Miss Cassie Albert and Mrs. Beckley, are still to be tried, but they were ordered continued by agreement of counsel.

The morning was devoted to arguments by counsel in the Brewer and Beckley cases.

Chief contention of counsel for the defense was that although Baker was guilty of "irregular and unprofessional conduct deserving of rebuke and censure from the court," he was not guilty of crime under the Maryland embezzlement statute because of the lack of criminal intent and also because the state failed to prove that the victims had been injured.

Gas Rationing Questions Are Answered by OPA

Includes Most Frequent Queries on Law Effective May 16

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—Here is a list of questions likely to be asked in connection with Eastern gasoline rationing, scheduled to begin May 16 and the answers as prepared by the Office of Price Administration.

Q.—How much gasoline may I get with my ration card?
A.—This depends on the value in gallons of each unit on your card as publicly announced by order of the Office of Price Administration.

Value May Be Changed
Q.—Can I get the same amount of gasoline for each unit?
A.—Not necessarily—the value of the units remaining on your ration card may be changed from time to time as publicly announced by the Office of Price Administration.

Q.—Can I spend all of the ration card at one time?
A.—Yes.

Q.—Am I the only one who can use this card?
A.—No; any person operating the vehicle or boat for which your card was issued may use the card so long as there is no change in the ownership or registration of such vehicle or boat; and in the case of a Class X card, so long as all or substantially all of such use is for one of the purposes for which such card was issued.

Keep Card in Car

Q.—What if I do not have my card with me and want to purchase gasoline?
A.—Dealers are not allowed to sell you any gasoline unless the ration card issued for the vehicle for which gasoline is being purchased is presented. Keep the card with your car at all times.

Q.—What if I need more gasoline than this card is good for?
A.—If it is essential for your life or for pursuit of your gainful occupation to have more gasoline, you can make application to your local rationing board.

Q.—What do I do if my ration card is lost, stolen, destroyed or mutilated?
A.—You may apply at your local rationing board for a replacement.

Buy Only That Needed

Q.—Do I have to use up all of the units of my ration card?
A.—No; if you do not need the gasoline do not buy it.

Q.—Can I buy any of the gasoline I sell with this ration card to anyone else?
A.—No; that is contrary to Government regulations.

Q.—If I sell my car what do I do with my ration card?
A.—Turn card in to local ration board.

Q.—What if I change cars?
A.—Apply for new ration card at your local rationing board, turning in your old card at that time. You cannot buy gasoline for one car on a card issued for a different car.

Q.—I am a Christian Science reader. What is my ration?
A.—You may make application for Card X if you are a first or second reader.

Q.—I cannot walk and need my car frequently to go to the doctor.
A.—You may apply on application to the local rationing board be given whatever ration card is necessary to cover this requirement.

Western Maryland College Golf Event Will Open Saturday

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 8 (P)—The sixth annual Western Maryland college invitation golf tournament will open tomorrow morning, attracting a field of nine teams.

College athletic officials announced today that Eddie Johnston, Baltimore university golfer and Maryland collegiate champion, was the favorite.

The University of Maryland won the team championship last year, but the Terrapins dropped golf from their intercollegiate schedule this year and will not compete.

In the invitation tournament last year, Otto Greiner, of Baltimore U., defeated Tommy Grodavent, of Mount St. Mary's, in a five-hole playoff after each had carded 149 for the thirty-six holes.

The Terrans never have won the tourney and officials said the third place they gained last year was the best they had done. Nearly all Maryland collegiate teams were expected to participate, they said.

Teams slated to compete are Bucknell, Loyola, Johns Hopkins, University of Maryland, Delaware, George Washington, Catholic university and Western Maryland.

Obtains Permit

Clayton Abe yesterday obtained a permit from the city engineer for the raising of the roof three feet and finishing an attic of the house at 252 Elder street. The improvements will cost approximately $200.

Blended Salad Suggestion

When serving green salad plan color contrasts, blending greens of light and dark shades. This makes the salad more appetizing and eye-appealing. Spinach, lettuce, chicory and cabbage make an attractive combination and they can be heightened in flavor and color by including sliced radishes, onions and pimientos. Sprinkle some grated raw carrots or hard-cooked egg yolks over the top for more vitamins.

A Cheap Dessert

For a cheap dessert, chill small pieces of left-over fruit cake and cookies folded into sweetened whipped cream.

Festive Foods for Mother's-Day-Off

CHOCOLATE COOKIES. Junior can make them. By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER, Wide World Food Editor

Dinner is usually the high point of Mother's Day. And mother will be particularly delighted if the children take over the preparation

CHOCOLATE COOKIES. Junior can make them. Dissolve a beef bouillon cube in cup hot milk. Add 3 cups boiled rice, 2 eggs or 4 yolks, 1 tablespoon each minced onions, parsley and celery, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika and 2 tablespoons butter, melted. Pour into buttered ring mold. Set in pan hot water and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Unmold and fill as desired.

CORN CREOLE: To serve 4 or 5 mix together 2 cups corn, 1/2 cup dried bread crumbs, 1/2 cup diced celery, 2 tablespoons each chopped green peppers, onions and pimientos, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 beaten egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 teaspoon paprika and 3 tablespoons butter, melted. Bake 30 minutes in buttered baking dish. Carry to the dining table in dish in which baked.

VEGETABLE SQUARES: Dissolve a package lemon gelatin in 1 cup boiling tomato juice, add 1/2 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon each paprika and sugar, 1 teaspoon minced onions and 1/4 teaspoon celery salt. Chill until a little thick. Add 1/2 cup cooked green beans, 1/2 cup chopped cabbage, 1/4 cup chopped green peppers and 2 tablespoons minced olives. Pour to thickness of 1 1/2 inches in shallow pan rinsed out of cold water. Chill until firm. Cut into 2 inch squares. Lightly scoop out centers and fill "to overflowing" with cottage cheese moistened with salad dressing. Garnish with crisp, shredded lettuce or chicory.

HAM SARATOGA: Select 2 slices smoked ham weighing about 1/2 pound each. Place one slice in shallow, baking dish. Cover with 2 cups raw potatoes mixed with 3 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon each salt and poultry seasoning and 1/4 teaspoon paprika. Cover with the other ham slice and peg in place with skewers. Add 2 cups milk. Bake 1 1/2 hours in moderate oven. Baste 4 times. Serve on heated platter and garnish with glazed apricots, browned pineapple slices or candied apple rings.

MILK SUGGESTIONS FOR THE KIDDIES

So Jimmy just won't drink his milk. There are thousands of young Americans like him; they continually thwart their parents' efforts to make them "down" the most important item of their diet. Since this has been a longstanding problem in many a home, a recent book, Rose's "Feeding the Family," touches upon the subject and offers a solution which parents may find of value.

Dr. Rose suggests that four cups of milk may be included in the diet of the child each day without his having to drink milk as a beverage at mealtime. She says these suggestions can be varied indefinitely if milk is used as much as possible in the preparation of food. The following is Dr. Rose's solution to the vexing problem for one day:

Two-thirds cup of milk cooked with the cereal.
One-third cup of milk in creamy egg on toast.
Two-thirds cup of milk in cocoa.
One-fourth cup of evaporated or one-half cup of fresh milk in tomato soup.
One ounce of top milk in mashed potatoes.
One-fourth cup of milk in creamed vegetable.
One-half cup of milk in pudding.
One-fourth cup of milk in custard sauce.
One-third cup of milk in pea soup.
One-fourth cup of milk in white sauce.
One-half cup of milk in junket.

A New Slant on the Noodle Situation

Do you sometimes hear that old refrain at the dinner table about noodles again? If the diners of your family are inclined to forget that it hasn't been noodles at every meal, here is a new slant on the situation. And it is called Egg Noodles Benedict.

Ingredients: One package egg noodles; one-half cup butter; two egg yolks; one tablespoon lemon juice; six slices crisped ham; six poached eggs; cayenne.

Directions: Cook the noodles and drain. Into the top of a double boiler put one-half the butter with the egg yolks, cayenne and lemon juice. Stir over hot water until the butter melts. Add the remaining butter, and cook into a thick sauce. Arrange six noodle nests on a hot platter, placing a slice of lightly fried ham and a poached egg on each. Serve with the Hollandaise sauce previously prepared.

Oven Suggestion

Keep the oven door closed while food is baking. Opening the door often lowers the temperature, sometimes causes baking disappointments.

Saving Plates

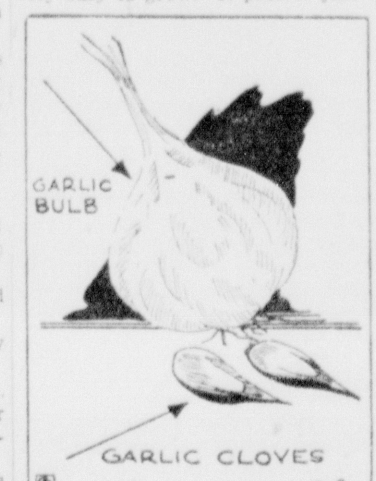

If you pass salad in a bowl, you can save salad plates. The family or guests can put their salad on their bread and butter plates or on the main serving plate.

TODAY'S VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By Dean Halliday

GARLIC HAS PLACE IN VICTORY GARDEN

Garlic frequently used for flavoring soup, meats and sauces, and for rubbing around the empty salad bowl before the greens are added, is very easy to grow. It prefers just a moderately fertile soil, for in rich soils the tops become overly developed.

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, garlic is a hardy perennial bulb which separates into divisions called cloves. These cloves are planted in the spring as onion sets are, spacing them from four to six inches apart.

In autumn when the leaves have dried, the plants are dug up and braided by their tops. They should be hung in an airy place to dry.

City Tax Rate In Oakland Set At 70c per $100

Municipal Budget of $29,136 Is Approved by Mayor, Council

OAKLAND, May 8.—The city tax rate for Oakland for 1942 was kept at seventy cents per $100 of assessable property, by order of the mayor and town council, at its regular May meeting. The tax rate has been seventy cents for two years, having been increased in 1940 from the sixty cent rate, where it had been stationary for quite a number of years.

The council a few weeks ago approved the budget for the town which amounted to $29,136, a reduction of $11,310.22 over the previous year. Two items will cut revenue this year about $1,500, as there will be no household property tax and city licenses for certain businesses have also been eliminated. The gas tax revenue will also be cut.

Of the seventy cents, it was pointed out by L. M. Fraley, mayor, that forty-five cents would go to general expenditures and that twenty-five cents would go to retire bonds and coupons of the town's bonded indebtedness. The town's assessable valuation is about two million dollars. There are about 400 taxpayers, according to Arthur Lawton, clerk-collector.

The city council also levied a tax of 70-100 of one per cent on bank stock which is expected to bring in over $700.00.

Rotary Report Given

A report of the proceedings of the district Rotary convention at Harrisburg, Pa., over the weekend, was given at the regular meeting of the local club this evening.

Attending the Harrisburg meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Weber and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Graser, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ream, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Stemple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ashby, and William L. Gibson.

The Oakland group was assigned the program for the morning meeting when Walter Dawson spoke and Messrs Ashby and Gibson furnished some musical numbers.

About 900 delegates attended and they elected Joseph Merrill, of Dundalk, district governor.

Church To Celebrate

Sunday is to be a day of great rejoicing among members and friends of St. Paul's Methodist church here for it will mark a celebration of the freeing of the church and parsonage from debt. Both were built in the last six years and have already been paid for by a definite plan of giving and other effort, the Rev. Minn Sprague, pastor stated.

The celebration will take the form of a service in the sanctuary at 7:30 p. m., followed by an informal reception in the assembly room.

At the service, attention will be given to the purpose for which the church was built, a review of its achievements, and a contemplation of its forward-looking program. A layman will speak, the choir will lead the people in praise of God and the pastor will lead the people in a litany of consecration.

The Rev. Winfield S. Patterson, D. D., of Moundsville, W. Va., will also speak. He is a former pastor here whose vision and leadership played a large part in the erection and financing of the church and parsonage.

Bond Quota Is $14,200

Garrett county should have no trouble in reaching the May quota for the voluntary purchase of United States War Bonds and Stamps, judging from the sales at the various points during previous months.

Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau Jr., has set a quota for every county in the United States and Garrett county's goal is $14,200. At the Oakland post office and the two Oakland banks during April, war bonds amounting to $7,687.50 were sold, and this was considered a low month. As war bonds are also sold at other postoffices and other banks in the county, it was estimated that the quota for May, the First National Bank of Oakland has sold bonds amounting to $2,625.

Lecture on Price Control

About 250 merchants and business men attended the meeting last night in Oakland high school to learn of the price control regulations which go into effect May 18.

Speaking at the meeting were Dr. Lloyd C. Reynolds, regional price executive; Robert Lowery, regional counsel and Lea H. McCormick, regional director.

A general discussion brought out many questions but definite answers were lacking on a number of them, it was stated by business men who attended. A lot of the merchants expressed dissatisfaction over the regulations but considered they were powerless to do anything about it.

Local rationing boards will be in charge of the program which is headed by Walter W. Dawson, chairman.

2,385 Rationing Books Are Issued In Mt. Savage

Three-day-old Child Without Name Registered as "Baby"

MT. SAVAGE, May 8.—Prof. J. Orville Kelaue, principal of Mt. Savage elementary-junior high school, stated today that approximately 2,385 sugar rationing books were distributed here during the four days of registration. The largest number of books to go to one family was fifteen. The youngest person to be registered was three days old, and was registered as "Baby," because it had not been named.

The registration was in charge of teachers at the school and other citizens who volunteered.

Mother's Day Program Planned

Special Mother's Day services will be held Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock in the Methodist church. Songs and music in keeping with the day will be presented by the mixed choir and a sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Harris M. Waters. Evening services will be held at 8 o'clock.

Brief Mention

The Girls Hi-Y Club of Mt. Savage will hold a Mothers' Day tea tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2 o'clock in the high school auditorium. Miss Ruth Finzel is in charge of the affair.

The Dora Thomas Circle of the Methodist church will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the recreation hall.

The Mt. Savage Girl Scout troop will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Junior Order hall.

A card party will be held Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock in the parish house of St. George's church.

Grant Tire, Tube Quota for May Is Greatly Reduced

Board Members Given Permission To Recommend Recapping

PETERSBURG, May 8.—Grant county's rationing board announced today that the tire and tube quota for the ensuing month is noticeably reduced, and members stated that a letter received from state headquarters revealed that the situation was much the same in all states.

Grant county's quota for the month of May is as follows: Passenger cars—tires, five, tubes, eight; retreads, twelve.

Trucks—tires, twenty-six; retreads, forty-six; and tubes, thirty-six.

An amendment effective May 1 states that all list A applicants must accept retreaded, and recapped tires or recapping and retreading service upon recommendation of the board.

Hagerstown Has Industrial Boom On Large Scale

Unemployment at an End and Many More Workers Are Needed

Editors Note: This is one of a series of stories prepared for the Associated Press by the editors of Maryland newspapers, relating the effects of the war on their communities and the way the war problems are being solved.

By C. NEILL BAYLOR
Editor Hagerstown Herald
HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 8 (AP)—World War I had little effect on Hagerstown's industrial picture but World War II finds the great majority of local plants turning out vast quantities of material for the United States armed forces.

The hub of Hagerstown's industrial activity is the Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corporation, employing approximately 6,000 persons in the manufacture of training planes. TW plants are being expanded constantly and the planes come off the line in ever-increasing quantities.

No Unemployment
Mercantile trade has kept pace with the rapid industrial development and surveys now rate Hagerstown as one of the nation's best trading areas. As a problem, unemployment has ceased to exist. Today the situation is reversed. More workers are needed and the supply is running low.

In this rich agricultural county, the farm labor question is becoming acute. As farm workers are being drawn to defense plants by fat pay envelopes, farmers fear they will be hard put to harvest bumper "food for victory" crops this year. Local employment agencies and farm organizations, alert to prospects of a labor shortage on farms, are studying plans for meeting the emergency.

Transportation Is Problem
Another problem occupying much attention at the moment in this war-busy community is transportation. Many workers live far from their jobs and with tires getting thinner, the situation is becoming more serious daily.

Approximately eighty percent of the local defense employees are residents of Washington county and nearby areas. This fact has helped to relieve the housing situation. However, the rapid industrial expansion created a demand for more homes which local real estate men agreed to build rather than turn the task over to federal agencies.

Residents of the city and county are taking the boom in stride but they are also mapping plans for post war conditions.

Community life has altered since Pearl Harbor. Civilian defense activities have multiplied with unprecedented rapidity. Today, nearly 7,000 residents of the county are enlisted in some form of civilian defense.

There is a spirit of unity on every hand and a very discernible desire to take part in programs looking to the success of American arms here and abroad.

Truly, the people of Hagerstown and Washington county are taking the war in full seriousness — feeling there is a great job to do and the quicker it's done, the better.

FRIENDS OF LIBRARY MARK INSTITUTION'S ANNIVERSARY

The eighteenth anniversary of Cumberland's Free Public Library was marked Thursday evening when the Friends of the Library, sponsored the fourth annual birthday party.

Featuring the celebration was a musical program presented under the direction of Jack Platt, Miss Edith Burrage, soprano of Westport presented vocal solo; Allegany Orchestra Ensemble played several selections and Jack Platt gave several numbers of the vibrolite. Included in the program was a number of acrobatic dances.

Miss Margaret E. Coulehan, acting president, presented a check to the library fund, and read a telegram of congratulations from James Alfred Alvord, former president of the Friends of the Library, who is now serving in the United States Army.

The celebration was presented under the direction of Miss Coulehan and Miss Margaret Muncaster, co-chairman of the membership drive committee, assisted by Miss Sarah Salena Sharp and a large group of workers.

The entertainment committee consisted of Mrs. Sara Roberts Getty, Mrs. George Schwarzenbach and Miss Ann Frances Whitting. J. William Hunt was program chairman. Proceeds of the evening's entertainment, which amounted to $120, will be turned over to the library fund.

Vichy May Move Gold From Martinique

LONDON, Friday, May 8 (AP)—The Daily Sketch declared today the Vichy government is preparing to move "nearly a billion dollars in French gold reserves to Venezuela from Martinique."

The Sketch reported in its "inside information" column that two French submarines are enroute to pick up the treasure and that they would relay it to four neutral cargo boats chartered to take it on to Venezuela.

War Booms Reno Mining, Cattle Business as Divorces Decline

Reno no longer has quite its usual devil-may-care attitude

General view of Reno

Relaxation from war worries at one of the divorce capital's gambling clubs.

By F. H. BUCK, JR.
Central Press Correspondent
RENO, Nev., May 8 — How is Reno, the self-styled "biggest little city in the world" adjusting itself to the war economy?

Is this "happy-go-cynical" pleasure town settling down to work for victory with the rest of the nation? Or will the divorce and gambling mills run on, virtually oblivious of the times?

The answer is that Reno has changed. It has not the same care-free, devil-take-the-hindmost attitude of a year ago. Gone is the riotous 4 a. m. laughter, the aimless play. The war is being felt. The prevalence of uniforms and the heavy brows of businessmen attest to that.

Reno is not a "war-boom" town, however, for it has no manufacturing industry to speak of. Its main revenue sources lie in the divorce and gambling trades, and the mining and cattle businesses. Since the latter two are vital to the war program, their virtual renaissance has had a stabilizing effect, despite the fact that divorces are off nearly 50 per cent.

Fewer Divorces
One attorney here, William Casbill, who is speaker of the Nevada house of representatives, pointed out that divorce cases always drop off in war time because people are too busy to become neurotic about their marital relationships.

On the other hand, he stated, the marriage rate has increased abnormally, with a constant stream of couples motoring across the Sierras from California daily.

Throughout the winter, hotels have been filled to capacity, for, in addition to the unprecedented marriage business, there has been an influx of private flyers following the grounding of civil aviation in California.

Two new airports have been constructed since Dec. 7, one at Sparks, an adjoining railroad roundhouse town, and one on the nearby desert, known as the Sky Ranch. These fields, and the municipal airport, are crowded with airplanes, all marked conspicuously with the "U. S." insignia of the Civil Air Patrol.

A leading real estate broker here, Norman Biltz, declared that the effect of the war on his business had been to increase the turnover of cattle properties.

See Vacationer Boom
Biltz predicted that there would be an influx of vacationers in summer as California executives endeavored to remove their families from the war zone. Most of these groups will take homes in the Lake Tahoe area, Biltz believes, although a few all-year residents, those who had sold out their businesses, might be expected to lease houses close to Reno.

Biltz added a lighter touch to the picture when he mentioned that the day after the first blackouts occurred on the coast two spic-and-span shiny black limousines, each seemingly a block long, drove up in front of the swank Riverside hotel.

Two chauffeurs assisted several dowager ladies, a couple of canary cages, a poodle dog and a Manx cat into the lobby. Meanwhile, bell-hops piled some 60 pieces of luggage onto the sidewalk, including several cases of sugar. They had arrived from San Francisco "for the duration."

There is now an immigration of another sort at hand, as well. California Japanese, ordered to evacuate defense areas, are moving back into the Sierra Nevada mountains, and around Reno and Carson City.

Many of these people are relatively wealthy, but those who are not, such as the farm laborers, will be housed under government supervision in former CCC camps, where they may undertake some of the duties of the CCC, most of whose recent members now find themselves fighting the enemy instead of forest fires.

Bars Open All Night
Although the shift to a war footing has lent a more serious note to Reno's traditional gaiety, there is still plenty of strenuous relaxation going on. The bars remain open all night, as usual. But the Army has clamped down hard on any vice conditions that may have existed heretofore.

In the bank club, gaudy Harold's club or down at the Duncan Sisters' roadhouse on the Truckee river, you can find mine owners, cattle kings, bankers and newswriters taking a moment's entertainment at the wheel of fortune. But their fun is just for the moment. They know that. Just for the hour, they know there is a big job being done, and that the people of Nevada are doing their part.

Here in the "big town" of a state that professes to be "a haven for the tax weary, and a storm cellar

"The Invaders" Termed Great Film Adventure

Flaming across the screen with all the fury of an aroused and determined nation, Columbia's "The Invaders" opens tomorrow on the Maryland theater screen a vivid, dramatic story of suspenseful adventure, of a man-hunt which sweeps across mountain, city, lake and wilderness, while a simple people in peril rises to new heights of heroism and courage to write a mighty chapter in the glorious saga of human gallantry.

Apart from the daring concept of its story, its gigantic and awe-inspiring sweep, "The Invaders" offers the rich resources of several of the world's greatest stars. Laurence Olivier, Leslie Howard and Raymond Massey top the cast of thousands, with Anton Walbrook, Eric Portman and Miss Glynis Johns in major featured roles. Michael Powell, one of the greatest directors produced by the English screen, produced and directed the new drama, from a story by Emeric Presburger.

"The Invaders" is the story of a democratic peoples' fighting reaction to the arguments and terrorism of a small band of Nazis who, stranded in Canada when their submarine is sunk by a Canadian bomber, attempt to escape into the then-neutral United States. The governments of the United States, Canada and Great Britain co-operated in the production of the new Columbia film, which took more than eighteen months to make.

Carole Landis Doing Her Share for Defense

Carole Landis is certainly doing her share for defense. She has so many jobs that they're changing her title from "Sweater Girl" to "Uniform Girl."

First of all on Monday, it's "Bundles for Bluejackets" night, and she is usually to be found out at the various Naval bases working in the canteens serving sandwiches, sinkers and coffee to the sailors. On Tuesday she's off to headquarters of the Aerial Nurse Corps, where as a commander she has to study her first aid, chemical warfare, gas defense, and a hundred and one other items in order to meet every defense emergency. Wednesday she's back at the "Bluejackets" for rifle practice, and on Thursday she does more canteen work. On Friday, Carole takes an advanced Red Cross first aid class, and on Sunday she's back drilling with the Aerial Nurse Corps. All in all, a busy week.

Carole had to forego many of the activities during her recent work in the 20th Century-Fox's "My Gal Sal," but now that she is finished with her chores in the technicolor musical, which is currently playing at the Strand theater.

Edward G. Robinson Burns False Beard

Edward G. Robinson learned, to his burning dismay, that Santa Claus should never smoke cigars. Robinson, inveterate cigar smoker, was playing Santa Claus in a scene for Warner Brothers comedy, "Larceny, Inc.," now at the Liberty theater, and between takes tried to light a fat stogie.

His match flared and so did his beard.

The actor escaped unharmed by quickly snatching the beard off and putting his foot on it.

"That's what I get for flaming tradition," he said afterwards. "If Santa smokes anything, it's supposed to be a pipe."

For a "wedding" of swing and classical music in a scene for Universal's "What's Cookin'" coming Monday to the Liberty theater, Patty Andrews of the famous Andrews Sisters swing trio, and Gloria Jean, youthful singing star, traded pointers on their respective artistry.

Gloria instructed Patty in how to drill an arpeggio for the classic "Il Bacio." And for a swing version of the same number, Patty taught Gloria how to "get off" on a "hot lick." For both versions of "Il Bacio," Woody Herman and his band that plays the blues" furnish the accompaniment.

Outdoor Drama Has Dick Foran

"Fire-top" Dick Foran, the famed screen cowboy with the bright red hair, is riding again—this time with Leo Carrillo and Andy Devine in "Road Agent," now at the Garden theater. It is the latest of a new series of action dramas Universal is filming with this new cinema trio.

Foran, who sings as capably as he rides and shoots, is featured in two song numbers, the old-time favorite, "Cielito Lindo" and a new cowboy tune, "Riding Home." And besides this, Foran teams with Anne Gwynne to supply the romantic interest in the film.

Fog for sinis trouble. No doctor in his right mind would prescribe it. Nevertheless, it worked out that way in screening Universal's "Mutiny in the Arctic." Rich-ardien-Andy Devine starring adventure story now playing at the Garden.

Because much of the story is laid in the Arctic ocean, there was a good deal of artificial fog employed. So the fog would not irritate those breathing it, blason was mixed in it. Several members of the company who ordinarily suffer from nasal troubles found themselves not worse after several hours in the "fog," but better.

Barry Westerns Are Action-Packed

All of the western pictures which popular cowboy star Don "Red" Barry makes for Republic Studios—including his latest, "Arizona Terrors," which starts tomorrow at the Embassy theater are of the straight action variety rather than musical westerns. Yet, curiously enough, Don is in private life an excellent musician. He plays both the piano and the guitar and is an enthusiastic record collector. He does not dote on any particular type of music, being equally fond of cowboy, popular, and sympathetic works.

"Arizona Terrors" presents Barry as a modern "Robin Hood," who almost single-handedly brings about the overthrow of a cruel and oppressive cattle baron. Lynn Merrick has the feminine lead.

The bloodhound, far from being a ferocious beast, is the gentlest of dogs. The so-called bloodhounds of but fierce beasts introduced into "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Mrs. Stowe's China and South America by the novel, were not really bloodhounds. Spaniards.

MAKE THE TRY AT ONCE
ONE COMBINATION of cards which is frequently misplayed, by a No Trump declarer of fair ability, is composed of a singly guarded queen in the dummy, opposite the ace and one or two little cards of the suit, when the opening leader has clearly chosen a fourth best. If the opponents had done no bidding to disclose the situation, it is nearly always best to play the queen at once. The reason is simple. That is practically its only chance to win, the chance that the king has been underled. If the king is held by the partner of the leader, the queen is as good as gone, whether it is played or not. If the small card is called, the next opponent should cover it with a high intermediate card and keep his king to knock off the queen later.

♠ K Q 10 5	♥ 5	♦ A 9 4 3	♣ A 8 4 2
♠ 4 2	♥ 4 2	♦ K 7 4 2	♣ K 8
♠ A 8 4 2	♥ 4 2	♦ K 8	♣ Q 9 5

(Dealer West North-South)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1♦	Pass
Pass	Pass	2♦	Pass
Pass	Pass	3NT	Pass

It was a shame to see East fail to make his contract on this deal in a rubber bridge game. After South led the heart 2, he reflected briefly and decided that North probably had the K. Hence he played the 5, and the 8 was put on by North. East let that win, but then took the heart J with the A. His contract was wrecked right there for, as soon as he led the spade J, the A came in, and three more hearts put him down one. If East had come in with the heart Q on the opening lead, he would have held the trick. When he then lost to the spade A, he still would have possessed the heart A as a stopper. Two tricks in hearts, plus four in spades, one in diamonds and two in clubs would have given him his game.

Your Week-End Lesson
What should be the very first lesson given by a sound teacher to someone who "plays at" bridge but has never studied it? Is it to use his thinking ability the best he can at all stages? Or does something still more fundamental than that come first?

Judges Convict C. Walter Baker Of Embezzlement

Hagerstown Attorney Sen- tenced to Two Years in House of Correction

C. Walter Baker, Hagerstown attorney, was convicted yesterday afternoon of embezzlement and sentenced to two years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Two-year sentences were imposed in each of two cases in which he was convicted by the three judges of the Fourth Judicial circuit, but they are to run concurrently. Baker was found not guilty of three charges on which he had been tried. When the verdicts were announced, defense counsel immediately moved for a stay of execution, but the motions were over-ruled. Motions then were filed for new trials in each of the cases in which Baker was convicted, but no action was immediately taken on these by the court.

May Take an Appeal

Defense Attorney Leo Weinberg indicated that an appeal "might be taken" if the motions for new trials are overruled.

In the meantime, Baker was released under $10,000 bond pending final determination of the cases.

In the two cases in which the defendant was convicted, the indictments charged him with embezzling $2,000 in Pennsylvania railroad bonds from Miss Cassie E. W. Albert, 75-year-old Hagerstown spinster, and $1,000 from E. Ross Brewer, of Arlington, Va., a former resident of Hagerstown. In the latter case, however, Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan commented that the amount was some $2,500, instead of $1,000.

The three indictments on which he was acquitted charged defalcations totaling $5,500—$2,000 in City of Hagerstown water bonds from the estate of Miss Henrietta M. Albert, sister of Miss Cassie Albert, and $3,500 from Mrs. Vernie E. Beckley, 56-year-old Hagerstown widow.

In handing down the verdicts, in which Associate Judge William A. Huster and Joseph D. Mish concurred, Judge Sloan said that the not guilty verdicts were found on "purely technical grounds," but added that the traverser in a criminal case is entitled to the benefit of every technicality of the law. He noted, too, that the "flagrancy" of the Beckley case could not prevent the judges from acquitting the defendant on the ground that he was not guilty as charged, although he might have been guilty of some other offense.

Heed Mercy Plea

The defense plea for mercy in view of the defendant's physical condition was not overlooked by the court in passing sentence, Judge Sloan declared. If it were an ordinary case, he said, "we would go to the very extreme within the limits of the word 'mercy' to do so."

Describing the case as "very grave," the jurist said that if Baker were in good health instead of the "distressing condition in which we now find him, we could impose a very severe penalty."

However, because the defendant is a lawyer is no reason to deal differently with him than with any other man in the same situation, Judge Sloan went on, imposing the two-year sentences.

Judge Sloan commented that "we (Continued on Page 10, Col. 7.)"

Fort Hill Honor Society Selects 23 New Members

Donald Lathrum Delivers Address in Ceremonies at School

Fort Hill high school formally initiated its new National Honor Society members yesterday at 12:00 o'clock. The society is an honorary organization and the local chapter was chartered in 1931 at Pennsylvania Avenue high school. Members were chosen by the following standards: character, service, leadership, and scholarship.

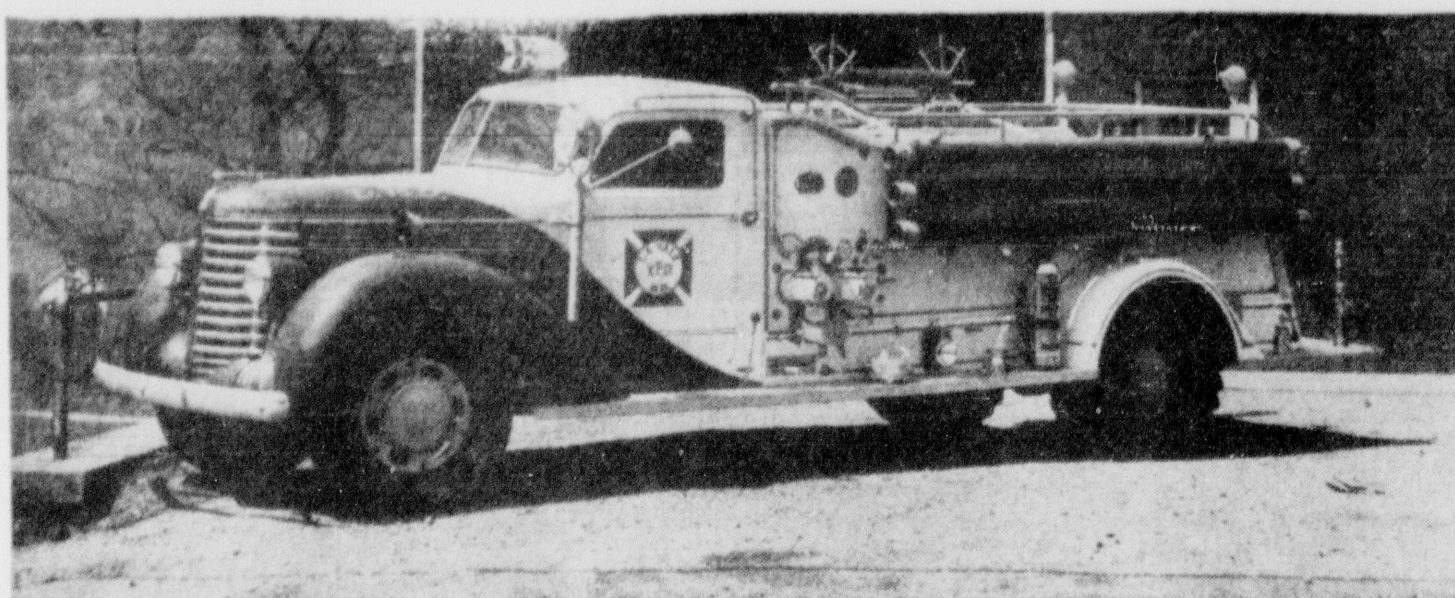

Mary Blades, Ermie Mease, Eileen Martin, Bettie Lee Sommerlatt, and Donald Lathrum, members selected last year, conducted the ceremony.

The students selected this year were: seniors; Arthur Hammond Amick, Paul Whitson Dom, Audrey Mildred Everett, Betty Jane Gowanland, Leona Frances Innes, Doris Evalene Kirk, Elizabeth Christine Lamp, Alice Jean Lowery, Jeannora Marie Nixon, Violet Elizabeth Popp, George Robert Reiter, Dorothy Louise Scott, Dorothy Jean Settle, Estelene Delores Smith, Guelma Frances Sulser, Irene Beatrix Turner, Virginia Lee Van Sant, and Norman Orville White.

Junior: Arelene Virginia Chen, Richard Francis Golden, Gladys Leona Kilroy, Patty Fern Kline, and Margaret Helen Stalter.

"The Significance of Education Today" was the introduction given by Donald Lathrum. This speech was followed by the explanation of each principle: scholarship, leadership, service, and character by Mary Blades, Eileen Martin, Ermie Mease, and Bettie Lee Sommerlatt.

A pledge was taken by the new members and remarks were made by Victor D. Heisey, principal. In concluding the program, the chapter resolved to work for victory in all fields of endeavor. Music was presented by Jane Kester.

LA VALE'S NEW FIRE TRUCK

In an effort to provide the LaVale area with adequate and efficient protection against fires, the Volunteer Fire Company recently purchased the well-equipped piece of apparatus shown above. With the onset of war and the expansion of civilian defense efforts officials of the fire company deemed it necessary to replace the second-hand truck which had served the community for several years. The new truck is painted red and white and is trimmed in nickel.

3 Defense Units Go Through Paces At the Armory

Minute Men, Nurses and Civilian Air Patrol Members Drill

The tramp of marching feet echoed from the state armory last night where three separate organizations were being placed through their paces by commissioned and non-commissioned officers of Companies C and D of the Maryland State Guard.

Largest of the three groups was comprised of over 200 Minute Men of five companies who drilled. Instructions were also given the Minute Men in proper safety methods in handling guns.

The five companies of Minute Men are assigned to various sections of Cumberland and surrounding suburbs. The men of the various companies were divided as to whether they have armed themselves with light or heavy caliber rifles or shotguns.

Arm bands bearing the letters "MD" and a figure of a Minute Man and a shoulder insignia of the Great Seal of Maryland will be issued each man as soon as available.

Most unique was the sight of a platoon of registered nurses being put through their paces by guard officers. The nurses are enrolled in Civilian Defense units and must have a certain number of hours of drilling before they receive certificates and arm bands.

These two groups drilled on the main floor of the huge drill shed while ironically enough members of the Civilian Air Patrol, who are more at home in the air, were required to drill in the basement because of lack of space.

Rites for Mrs. Getty Will Be Held Today

Funeral services will be held today for Mrs. Mary Gibbons Getty, 33, 212 Harrison street, who died Wednesday night in Allegheny hospital.

Requiem mass will be conducted in St. Patrick's Catholic church by the Rev. Thomas A. Hardesty, assistant pastor, and cousin of Mrs. Getty. Interment will be in the church cemetery. At 7:45 o'clock last night the Sodality of St. Patrick's, of which Mrs. Getty was a member, said the rosary at Lempert's residence where the body is resting. The rosary was led by the Rev. Father Hardesty.

Besides four children, she is survived by her father, John J. Gibbons, Sr., Baltimore, and a brother, John J. Gibbons, Jr., Orange, Va. For thirty years they were manager and assistant manager, respectively, of Buena Vista hotel, Buena Vista Springs, Pa., and Pen-Mar park, near Hagerstown.

Will Hold Rites Sunday For Mrs. J. S. Gornall

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Martha Gornall, 85, widow of John S. Gornall, will be held Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward A. Reith, 517 Payette street. Mrs. Gornall died early yesterday morning at the home of another daughter, Mrs. E. Carl Rogers, Baltimore.

A daughter of the late William H. and Mary Davis Beall, she was a native of the Baltimore pike section and resided in this vicinity until four years ago.

The body was brought to Cumberland yesterday afternoon and taken to the home of her daughter last night for the funeral, to be conducted by the Rev. Vernon N. Ridgely, pastor of Centre Street Methodist church. Interment will be in Philos cemetery, Westernport.

Besides Mrs. Reith and Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Gornall is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Thierly, Washington; two sons, William F. Gornall, Washington; Frank A. Gornall, Cumberland; one half-sister, Mrs. Emma Perdue, Artemus, Pa.; fourteen grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Progress Made by Them in Effort To Provide Ade- quate Protection

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Department which was organized several years ago has made great strides in building up both personnel and equipment. The latest addition to their fire-fighting apparatus is the most important.

In an effort to give the volunteers the best equipment with which to battle fires, the organization decided to purchase a new fire truck equipped with all the necessary devices such as ladders, hoses, chemical extinguishers and lanterns.

The new truck is a Diamond T weighing 12,800 pounds and equipped with a 500 G. P. M. triple combination pumping engine. Other equipment carried by the truck includes a 300-gallon booster tank, one twelve foot and one twenty-four foot extension ladder; two extinguishers; three ten-foot sections of hard rubber hose to draft water from streams and ponds; and siren and flashing red light.

Large Hose Capacity

The machine has a capacity for 1,200 feet of two and a half inch hose and 300 feet of one and a half inch double jacket hose. The color scheme of the truck is red and white with nickel trim. The vehicle was bought from the Oren Fire Apparatus Division of Roanoke, Va.

Officials of the company said the new truck will greatly aid in fighting conflagrations in the LaVale section and in addition will be valuable in conjunction with the civilian defense effort of Allegheny county.

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Department has seventy-one members, seven of them are serving their country in the armed forces. The department displays a service flag with seven stars in honor of Henry F. and Edwin Wintermeyer, Morgan C. Winner, John E. and Joseph Connelly, Lewis Ort and Alvin Youngblood, Jr.

Nine of the volunteer fire ladders have taken the basic training course for firemen while six members have taken the advanced course of training. R. J. Snyder, fire chief, was the instructor. The company has a large fire hall situated on Route 40 about five miles from Cumberland.

Officers of the company are L. B. Carter, president; John German, vice president; Cronwell Zembower, secretary; Leo Innes, financial secretary; Walter Alexander, treasurer; Wilmer Crowe, sergeant-at-arms; James Beacham, Elmer Lancaster, and Harry Klosterman, trustees; R. J. Snyder, fire chief; Clarence Wagoner, assistant chief; and Alvin B. Storey, chaplain.

Women Aid in Work

The Ladies Auxiliary to the company is composed of fifty-eight active members. They have aided the company in serving at dinners held at the fire hall and in many ways helped to build the company into its present strong position.

Mrs. Edna German is president of the auxiliary. Mrs. Flo Alexander, vice president; Mrs. Virginia DeVault, secretary; Mrs. Regina Wilson, financial secretary; Mrs. Clarence Ort, treasurer; Mrs. Minnie Carter, chaplain, and Mrs. Edna Wagoner, historian.

Ingram Orders 2,500 Arm Bands for Units Of Civilian Defense

A requisition for 2,500 arm bands for Cumberland civilian defense units was forwarded to Baltimore yesterday by Vincent P. Ingram, civilian defense director for Allegheny county.

The order must be approved by Isaac S. George, state executive director, and forwarded to the manufacturer in New York.

Ingram said that the order included arm bands for members of fourteen different local defense units, namely, air raid wardens, auxiliary policemen, rescue squads, medical forces, nurses aides, emergency food and housing corps, drivers unit, messenger, road repair crews, decontamination squad, fire watchers and staff corps.

One Deed Recorded

One deed, twenty conditional sales contracts and two mortgages were filed for record yesterday at the court house. Maxine F. White deeded the "King Farm" of 600 acres at Ellerslie to Chester F. Miller, of York, Pa.

Commissioner Arnold

Mrs. William C. Arnold

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS—

Commissioner and Mrs. William C. Arnold, territorial commanders of the Salvation Army for fifteen Southern States and the District of Columbia, will arrive here today from Atlanta, Ga., for the annual Young People's Councils of the Maryland and Northern West Virginia division, which will be held in Allegheny high school. The distinguished guests will speak at the Welcome Session and the Youth Demonstration today and the Consecration and Life Services tomorrow.

Three Services Sunday Will Mark Salvation Army Youth Conference

Meetings Open at Alle- gheny Today; Crafts Dis- play Is Added Feature

Programs for two Sunday services, featuring the Salvation Army's annual Young People's Councils of Maryland and Northern West Virginia, scheduled to get under way this morning at Allegheny high school were announced last evening by Adj. William T. Powell, of Baltimore, leader of divisional young people's activities.

Music To Open Program

Preceded by music by the Fairmont (W. Va.) Corps Band, the Consecration service tomorrow will start at 10 a. m., with singing "Thou Christ of Burning Cleansing Flame," led by Maj. Charles H. Dodd.

Mrs. Charles H. Dodd will give the Scripture reading and the prayer will be delivered by Shirley Robertson, of Cumberland, and Lucy Rainsberger, of Baltimore. A selection, "Accorition—Simeon—Silver Hill" will be played by the Council band and will be followed by addresses by Commissioner and Mrs. William C. Arnold, territorial commanders from Atlanta, Ga.; a vocal duet by Maj. and Mrs. Sidney Cox, of Atlanta, and benediction by Mrs. William T. Powell.

Life Service Starts at 2:30

Music by the Parkersburg (W. Va.) Corps band will precede the Life Service, scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. This program comprises the opening song, "Come Shout and Sing," by Adj. William T. Powell; prayer, by Ernestine Powell, of Weirton, W. Va., and Mrs. Brice L. Phillips, of Cumberland; Scripture reading by Mrs. Sidney Cox; personal testimonies, by Hilda Bell, of Weirton, and Leonard Facemire, of Clarksburg, W. Va.; addresses by Commissioner and Mrs. William C. Arnold and benediction by Mrs. William T. Powell.

A Sunday night service will be conducted by the divisional staff at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic street, with Maj. Kenneth Howarth, of Richmond, Va., divisional young people's secretary for Virginia and Southern West Virginia, as the guest speaker. Music will be provided by the Parkersburg band.

400 Delegates To Attend

Four hundred leaders and delegates to the two-day divisional meetings will register this morning from 9 to 10:30 a. m., at Allegheny high school.

The welcome session will start at 10:45 a. m. in the school auditorium, group councils will meet in various class rooms for discussions at 2:30 p. m. and a Youth Demonstration is scheduled for 7:30 p. m., with "Our Country's Flag," a colorful patriotic pageant, as one of the features.

A display of crafts by the youths of the Salvation Army will be exhibited at the school.

Delegates will stay at local hotels tonight. Meals will be served in the Allegheny high school cafeteria.

Brig. Phillipson announced last evening that Maj. and Mrs. Richard B. Flitton, of Atlanta, Ga., will be unable to attend on account of the former being ill. Their places will be taken by Maj. and Mrs. Sidney Cox, also of Atlanta.

Sturtz Is Charged With Stealing Parcel Post

Janitor Admits Thefts in Federal Building, In- spector Declares

A charge of theft of parcel post mail was placed against Robert B. Sturtz, 47, Willow Brook road, yesterday by A. E. Helmick, post office inspector.

Tuesday, Sturtz was charged with the theft of clothing from the Cumberland chapter, American Red Cross, in the Federal building where he had been employed as janitor since 1935.

Helmick said Sturtz has signed an additional confession, admitting to stealing parcel post mail as well as admitting theft of several articles of government property from the Federal building. He already has signed a confession admitting the theft of the Red Cross property. He denies, however, stealing any letter mail, Helmick said.

Many Articles Found

Among the articles Helmick said Sturtz had stolen from the parcel post are wrist watches, electric irons, an electric toaster, an electric shaver, two rifles and a machinist's reference book.

From the post office he is alleged to have taken a large grindstone, erected on a steel stand, and a lawn mower. A brace, which Sturtz admitted taking from an electrician's kit at the federal building after the flood, was found in his home. He also confessed to stealing from offices in the federal building other than the Red Cross office and storage room but none of the items taken were of any large value, Helmick said.

Sturtz at first denied theft of any articles from the mails but when he was confronted with some of his loot, agreed to sign a confession, Helmick explained.

The thefts probably extend over a period of eighteen months or two years, according to Helmick, who said a total value of the stolen articles has not been arrived at yet. Value of the goods taken from the Red Cross is approximately $70, he added.

No Hearing Necessary

Wednesday afternoon Sturtz waived a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Wilbur V. Wilson for stealing the clothing from the Red Cross. At that time he was held in bond of $1,500 for action of the Federal grand jury. Helmick said yesterday there would be no further preliminary hearing on the new charge and that bond would remain at the original figure. Sturtz still is confined to the county jail.

Conviction for theft of property from the Red Cross, on which a charge of stealing federal property from a federal reservation is based, carries a maximum penalty of ten years in prison and a fine up to $10,000. Theft of the grindstone and lawn mower, also government property, carries a similar maximum penalty, Helmick declared.

Maximum penalty for stealing parcel post is five years in prison or $2,000 fine. A separate count for each item taken can be included in an indictment, Helmick said, but he did not indicate what action will be taken against Sturtz.

RATION STAMPS MUST BE USED IN CERTAIN PERIOD

Rationing board officials yesterday heard reports of grocers removing the wrong stamps from books issued in the past four days and again point out Stamp No. 1 is good for the purchase of one pound of sugar between May 5 and May 16, is not good for any other period, and that no other stamp is good for this period.

An illustration of how the plan works follows: A family of six possesses six books and is entitled to purchase six pounds of sugar in the May 5-16 period. When the sugar is bought Stamp No. 1 will be removed from each of the six books and not six stamps from one book.

Officials point out it is important that the proper stamps are removed for it is possible they may be used to ration other commodities and if stamps are missing complications will result.

Stamp No. 2 is good for the purchase of one pound of sugar between May 17 and 30. No. 3, one pound between May 31 and June 13 and No. 4, one pound between June 14 and 27.

No values or dates have been fixed for the other stamps. A single stamp may in the future be good for the purchase of one pound, more than one pound or less than one pound, depending upon circumstances and official announcements.

Three Births Reported

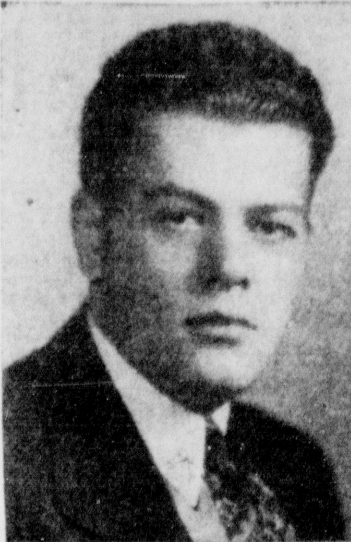

Mr. and Mrs. R. Austin Stine, 506 Hill street, announce the birth of a daughter yesterday morning in Allegheny hospital.

A daughter was born yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Moore, 520 Brinker's lane, in Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sifers, 226 Valley street, announce the birth of a son yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

Boy Is Injured

Carl Miller, 7, of 1007 Kentucky avenue, was treated yesterday at Memorial hospital for a laceration on the back of his head. The child suffered the injury while at play on the Johnson Heights school playground.

CAST IN PLAY—

Playing the part of Kenneth Rimplegar, a sophisticated young gentleman with a Harvard accent, will be William Green in "Three Corners Moon," a comedy in three acts to be presented by the senior class of Allegheny high school on May 15. The play, written by Gertrude Tonkonogy, concerns the slightly moon-struck Rimplegar family, of which Kenneth is the most dignified member.

William Green has made several dramatic appearances, as the mysterious Mr. Blunt in "The Jade God," and in minor roles in "Our Town" and in the 1941 Christmas play. He is also active in many other activities, being associate editor of the Allegheny Mirror; advertising manager of the Allegheny; a member of History Club and of this year's declamation team. William was selected to represent Allegheny as a guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club. Reserved seats for the production will go on sale Monday.

Plastic Surgery Clinic Scheduled Here for May 23

Dr. Kitlowski Will Have Charge; League Dis- plays Illustrated Map

Dr. Edward Kitlowski, surgeon of Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, will conduct a clinic for plastic surgery cases at the headquarters of the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children, city hall plaza, Saturday, May 23, it was announced yesterday by Miss Vivian Lambert, executive secretary.

89 Appointments Made

Appointments already have been made for sixty-two Allegheny county casts and twenty-seven Garrett county cases.

Miss Lambert stressed the fact that only those making appointments will be seen by Dr. Kitlowski during the one-day clinic, which will be limited to children and will get under way at 9 a. m.

A map, forty-four inches long and thirty-two and one half inches wide, is now being displayed on the wall at league headquarters to indicate the location of approximately 500 children under treatment in Allegheny county.

Colored Pins Denote Cases

Pins of nine different colors are used to denote the various cases, such as poliomyelitis, cerebral palsy, deformities of the feet and limbs, curvature of the spine, injuries and fractures, plastic surgery, amputations and miscellaneous, and gold stars are pinned on the map to indicate that those under treatment are wearing the corrective type of shoe or an appliance other than shoes.

The number of pins stuck in the map show that fifty per cent of the children under treatment reside in Cumberland.

The map was made by the Maryland Planning Commission and was presented to Miss Lambert by Leo T. Downey, district engineer of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Parade Will Be Held This Morning by Boys Of School Patrols

Members of school boy patrols of Allegheny and Garrett county schools will parade here this morning at 8:30 o'clock. Afterward they will attend a motion picture at a local theater. About 400 are expected to be in the line of march.

Certificates of merit will be presented to twenty-five boys by F. Harry Rockwell, president and manager of the Western Maryland Motor Club, sponsors of the patrols. Morgan C. Harris, Allegheny county state's attorney, will give a short talk at the theater.

The annual trip to Washington, in which thousands of boys from several states usually participate, has been cancelled this year, due to the war.

The boys will form at Altamont Terrace and march to Centre street, to Market, to Mechanic, to Frederick street, to the theater.

Directory Shows Gain Of 350 New Telephones

A gain of 350 new telephones since the winter and spring book went to press last November has boosted the number of telephones to 9,300 for the new summer and fall Cumberland directory, it was announced yesterday by Robert L. Schlemmer, manager of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The new book will go to press on May 12 and will be distributed about June 12.

Fraternal Groups Arrange Programs For Mother's Day

Hyattsville Pastor Will Give Sermon at First Presbyterian Church

Exercises appropriate to Mother's Day will be held here tomorrow by three fraternal organizations, two church groups and a Bible class.

Annual observance of the day will be celebrated by Cumberland aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles; Cumberland lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose; Cumberland lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks; the First Presbyterian church, Washington street; the adult department of the Centre street Methodist church and the Duke Methodist Men's Bible Class.

Invitation Scheduled

A Mother's Day class of fifty candidates will be initiated by the local Eagles aerie at exercises to be conducted at the Eagles home, North Mechanic street, at 2 p. m. Joseph Thomas, president of the University of Akron (Ohio) will be the principal speaker. William T. Rollins, worthy president, will give the address of welcome and C. William H. Baer, former state president of the Eagles, will preside. Marty Flynn's Society Ramblers will provide music and refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Gibson, Bruce Speakers

Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., local magister, will be the guest speaker at the program scheduled for 4 p. m., at the Moose home. The ceremony will be dedicated to the mothers of members who have died. Invocation will be given by the Rev. Kenneth Plummer, pastor of the Calvary Methodist church, Ridgely, W. Va., Governor George Erling will preside. After the program, refreshments will be served. In the evening Staff Sgt. Clarence Biehn, of the local United States Army recruiting station, will show sound movies of army life and there will be music by the Society Ramblers.

An address by Arthur B. Gibson, past exalted ruler of Cumberland lodge, over radio station WTBO at 2:30 p. m., will feature the B. P. O. Elks' Mother's Day program. The service will be in charge of officers of the lodge.

Women Workers Discuss Plans For Chest Drive

Division Leaders and Cap- tains Will Meet Again Next Friday

Division leaders and team captains of the women's section of the Community Chest campaign met with the chairman, Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in campaign headquarters. Another meeting is scheduled for 2 p. m., next Friday at Central Y. M. C. A.

There are four divisions in the women's section, west, north, east and south, with five teams to a division, campaign officials said. Each team will have eight to ten workers in addition to the captain. Division leaders said after the meeting they expect their organization to be completed within the next two or three days. Captains expect to have their teams completed by Wednesday.

The women's section thus far is composed as follows: West division, Miss Ann Frances Whiting, 632 Washington street, leader; Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, 506 Washington street, Mrs. J. S. Cook, Bowling Green, captains.

North division, Mrs. Karl G. Perry, 513 Louisiana avenue, leader; Mrs. Ruth D. Andrews, 609 Frederick street, Mrs. Jesse E. Welsh, 514 Riehl avenue, Mrs. Adam A. Comp, LaVale, Mrs. Ralph W. Stein, 450 Walnut street, Mrs. John H. Cramer, 316 Maplewood lane, captains.

East divisions, Mrs. K. W. Radcliffe, 1908 Bedford street, leader; Mrs. Earl Little, Bedford road; Mrs. Boston E. Sherwood, 10 Louisiana avenue, Mrs. Albert M. Kerfs, 327 Pearl street, captains.

South division, Mrs. Miles G. Thompson, LaVale, leader, Mrs. Stanley S. Burke, 12 Fifth street, Mrs. R. W. Rice, 959 Glenwood street, captains.

Campaign officials explained that all division leaders may not reside within the section which they are heading but all team captains do.
